

LACK OF FUNDS ENDED ADULTS' DRIVING COURSE

State Official Also
Cites Irregularities
To School Directors

"Irregularities" and expense were what caused Pottstown school board to discontinue its Summer driver-training program for adults, school officials reported yesterday.

William H. Yohn, school director, said the biggest reason was that the board felt it needs every penny it could get to meet children's educational needs, and should not spend money on such adult projects.

Yohn also cited a letter received recently by the school district from A. W. Castle, chief of the extension education division, State Department of Public Instruction, which said in part:

"I understand there have been some irregularities in the previous administration of your driver-training program."

CASTLE SAID that no fees could be charged those taking the course and no outside organization "can play any active part in the organization and administration of such service."

School officials reported yesterday, and adults who have taken the program confirmed, that adult driving students have been charged $15 for the nine-hour course. They paid this money to the Pottstown Automobile club.

(The adult driving program is separate from the driver-training program that is conducted in the schools. Driver-training of students was not affected by the school board's Wednesday night decision to discontinue the Summer program.)

Of the $15, the auto club has turned over $10 to the school district.

School Men Act on Plan

A committee of Pottstown school directors began preliminary work yesterday on a survey aimed at providing information about a new elementary school for the borough's fast-growing West End.

The board set a tentative target date of September 1953, for construction of such an elementary school, at its Wednesday night meeting.

President H. Bert Shaw named Carl M. Binder, Charles L. Rohland and H. C. Creswell to a committee that will study elementary school architecture in eastern Pennsylvania.

This information will be used to provide a basis for decisions about the type of construction and architect to be used.

ONE FACTOR in consideration of a West End school was a report made to it that approximately 148 pupils of elementary school age, who live west of Manatawny creek, now have to be transported by bus.

Most of these attend Jefferson school, Beech and Warren streets. About 44 attended Lincoln school, Eighth and York streets. These (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Cloudy Weather Is Prediction

The cool refreshing weather with temperatures ranging in the comfortable 70's is slowly but surely on its way out.

It is to be replaced by mercury readings and humid atmosphere more commonly associated with this area this time of the year, the weatherman said yesterday.

With rainy weekends the rule rather than the exception, planners should not be too disappointed to find out that the latest forecasts predict partially cloudy skies today, with more clouds and even thundershowers tomorrow.

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Partly cloudy and a little warmer today. Saturday, partly cloudy, warmer and more humid, with scattered thundershowers likely in the afternoon.

They're Smiling Now, But...

"Ah, who's superstitious?" asks John Yanusko, 406 Beech street, as he stands under a ladder supporting Barbara Lee Shellenberger, Pottstown RD 4, as she prepares to tack up sign reminding superstitious Pottstown area residents that today is the day to be extra careful. Watching wisely at the right as Yanusko laughs under the ladder is a well known sign of bad luck, a black cat.

Superstitious: Watch Out! It's Friday 13

So you're going to break a big full-length mirror or stride laughingly under a ladder today because it's Friday the 13th and you intend showing how much bunk all this superstition is.

Well, go to it, brother, but if a piece of that mirror cuts you as you break it or a bucket of crimson paint falls on you from atop the ladder, it's your own fault.

The wise live cautiously and the foolish dangerously today.

No matter how many misfortunes are attributed to failure to heed a superstition, the foolish continue to laugh at superstition.

Maybe those doubled in laughter aren't foolish, but there are some who definitely would think they are.

Air Show Fees To Be Weighed By Council Unit

Council's airport committee will meet this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to decide whether the Pottstown Minute Men club, which is sponsoring an air show Aug. 24, the day the dedication of Pottstown Municipal airport will take place, will be allowed to charge for parking in the vicinity of the new airport, operate concessions and sell seats.

At council's Monday meeting it was decided to turn the problem over to the airport committee.

A. C. Seawell, chairman of the Minute Men committee, planning the air show had written a letter to the committee requesting permission to operate the concessions and charge for parking to defray the costs of the show.

He said that without permission to go ahead with the club's requests it would be impossible to run the show.

THE COST of engaging Cole Brothers' Air Circus and other miscellaneous expenses in planning the affair will come to about $2000, he said.

Seawell said the Pottstown Chamber of Commerce had promised to underwrite the costs, provided the airport committee (Continued on Page Thirteen)

That Bum's No Bum, He's Just a Gambler

If you should happen to see a ragged character shuffling along High street today, don't be too hasty to brand him as a beggar or a bum.

He may be a gambler. It is not a matter of choice that gamblers in the Pottstown area and throughout Montgomery county have discarded their dapper wardrobes and expensive cars.

Rather, they are seeking cover and seclusion from the long arm of Uncle Sam's Internal Revenue department.

For the past several months, agents of the Government have been active in Montgomery county checking the incomes, bank accounts, expenditures and other financial activities of people with a reputation as gamblers.

Particular attention is being paid to the affairs of men associated with dice games, numbers writing and horse race betting.

At times, there have been as high as 200 agents in the county at once, it was learned. They gathered information wherever possible: from friends, acquaintances, the corner barroom, business men and Court records.

TWO OF the agents' main sources of information are the recorder of deeds office and the clerk of courts office in the court house. The former supplies data on real estate ownership, while the clerk's office turns up any criminal record which the subjects might have.

As a result of this intensive "snooping" by the agents to uncover possible income tax evasions, the gamblers are an uneasy lot.

No longer do they appear on the streets in $25 silk shirts and $200 suits, sitting behind the wheel of the latest model limousine.

Instead, those who have not gone out of business altogether are attempting to disguise themselves as ordinary run-of-the-mill working men, out of a job, as they infest the street corners of the county's biggest communities.

8 at Rotary Fete Get Pupil Awards

"Service Above Self" was the theme of the Pottstown Rotary club dinner last night at the Elk's home, where eight pupils from four area schools were honored and given awards for outstanding service to their schools.

Dr. George A. McCormick, Pottstown schools superintendent, introduced the four school principals. They in turn presented two pupils each, a boy and a girl, and enumerated the young people's merits, showing why they had been selected as candidates for the prizes.

First to be named was Anna Marie DeMario, 316 West Vine street, Stowe, of West Pottsgrove High school. Principal Jessie H. Rosenberry spoke of her as "always thinking of others before herself."

Among Miss DeMario's activities at school were listed the glee club, color guard, parts in the Junior and Senior class play, letters in hockey and basketball, and receiving of the American Legion award (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Petitions Circulated In Lower Pottsgrove For 1st Class Status

Some Progress Seen in Talks On Bus Issue

The problem created by the discontinuance of the Birdsboro-Pottstown route of the Murphy Bus line was thrashed out yesterday morning by the executive board of the Pottstown Mercantile bureau, but a final solution was not reached.

A. E. Willauer, chairman of the executive board of the bureau, said that some progress had been made in planning for a resumption of service either by Murphy or some other line.

Willauer said that the board has made contact with other lines which have shown some interest in taking up where Murphy left off and that they are investigating the possibilities of resuming service with the Pennsylvania Utility commission's approval.

Petitions favoring the advancement of Lower Pottsgrove from a second to a first class township are being circulated among property owners by the township road supervisors, it was learned last night.

The supervisors have been contemplating the move for several months to obtain a stronger township governing body, increase the borrowing capacity, and make it more difficult for the borough of Pottstown to annex any portion of the township.

But no direct action was taken until the past week, when Supervisor Joseph Mack began circulating a petition among property owners.

The signatures of the owners of 25 percent of the assessed valuation of township property must be affixed to the petition if it is to be accepted by the county court of quarter sessions.

The assessed valuation of Lower Pottsgrove is $3,834,773, and it is reported that the supervisors are attempting to get the signatures of 100 of the largest property-owners to fulfill this requirement.

THE ELIGIBILITY of a second-class township for advancement to first-class status hinges on the density of population of the area involved. There must be at least 300 persons to the square mile.

"We won't have any trouble on that point," John Saylor, president of the supervisors, said last night. At last count, the township's population was 3389, and its area is 7.453 square miles, averaging over 400 persons per square mile.

If the supervisors gain a sufficient number of signatures on the petition, and submit it to the quarter sessions court in Norristown, the next move is for the court to appoint a commissioner to investigate the population of the township.

If no exceptions are taken to this report within 30 days of its filing, the finding is certified to the county commissioners.

The question of establishing a first-class township will then be submitted to the voters in the November election, provided that at least 5 percent of the registered voters of the township have petitioned.

Rev. Begley To Observe Anniversary

The Rev. William M. Begley, rector of St. Aloysius Catholic church, will celebrate 25 years in the priesthood at 11 o'clock mass Sunday and at a banquet in his honor at the Maria Assunta lodge in the afternoon.

There will be 15 priests at the mass Sunday. Among them will be Monsignor John Rowan, scripture professor at St. Charles' seminary in Overbrook.

The Very Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, rector of Mt. St. Mary's seminary in Emmitsburg, Md., will serve as deacon of the mass and the Rev. James McGrory, assistant rector of St. Columbus Catholic church in Philadelphia, will be sub-deacon.

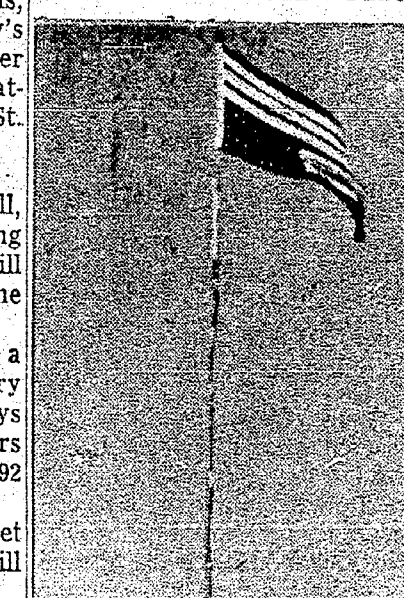

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Francis P. McNelis, spiritual director at Mt. St. Mary's seminary and a friend of Father Begley's since both priests attended preparatory school at St. Mary's.

LEON MAGEE and James O'Dell, parish youths who are attending the seminary at St. Charles, will be masters of ceremonies at the mass.

Before the mass there will be a solemn procession from the rectory to the church with the altar boys and the Fourth degree members of the Father Bally council 1192 of the Knights of Columbus.

Publix Shirt Will Leave

Publix Shirt corporation intends to go out of business in Pottstown, it was learned yesterday.

J. T. O'Connell, personnel manager of the eight-plant corporation, which has its headquarters in New York city, announced that it plans to sell the big, four-story brick factory at Beech and Evans streets.

O'Connell said the reason for the sale is that the 40-year-old building is not suited to the type of modern shirt-making production that Publix wants.

Until and unless the building can be sold, O'Connell emphasized, Publix will continue its present operations there.

THERE NOW are 100 persons employed in the pressing and ship-

2 Cars Damaged
On West High St.

Autos of two motorists from the borough and Pottstown RD 3 were damaged, but no one was injured, in a collision on West High street near the Colebrookdale bridge at 10:50 o'clock last night.

Norman D. Yocom, 85 West Fifth street, told Desk Sgt. Russel B. Hummel and Patrolman William A. Mars, who investigated, that he was traveling west on High street when the eastbound car of Elwood B. Kauffman, Pottstown RD 3, cut across the westbound lane in front of him.

Kauffman, who wanted to enter a service station on the north side of the highway, told the officers he thought he had enough room to make the turn safely.

The right fender and headlight of Yocom's car and the right rear fender of Kauffman's were damaged.

Pottstown Woman Displays Flag Faithfully

Terry Spaar, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Spaar, 52 Chestnut street, gets ready to raise the flag displayed daily, not only tomorrow, Flag Day, in his back lawn, as his friends salute the colors. Left to right are Lee Steiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Steiner, 59 Chestnut street; Joseph Yohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Yohn, 29 Chestnut street; Jill Steiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Steiner, 39 Chestnut street; and Terry.

Every day is Flag Day for Mrs. Walter S. Spaar, 52 Chestnut street. In order that she may always view the stars and stripes fluttering in the breeze, Mrs. Spaar has been raising and lowering a two-by-three foot flag in her back lawn every day for the past three years.

"Every time I look at that flag I appreciate it more and more," exclaimed Mrs. Spaar. She raises the banner on a 6-foot pole every morning at 6 a. m. and takes it down around 9 p. m.

Her 9-year-old son, Terry, likes to help her with it, and during the day, he and his friends frequently play around the flagpole.

"WE PRETEND it's a fort," says Terry, "and half of us try to storm it. If a fellow gets shot or something, we usually salute the flag before we get captured."

The "gang" also likes to parade around the flag with their toy drums and trumpets.

Terry, who just got an "A" in his art class at the Washington elementary school, usually draws several sketches a day of the flags of various nations.

"I like the American flag best," he says, "because it has nice colors and it represents freedom."

A patriotic youngster, Terry studies hard at arithmetic, "because if I go into the Army and want to be a pilot, you have to know a lot about figures." His brother, Walter Spaar Jr., 19 Chestnut street, was a paratrooper in the 101st Airborne Division during (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Hopes for Control Of Polio Virus Rise As 'Season' Opens

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—New hope for eventual control of infantile paralysis was offered today almost coincident with the start of the 1952 polio "season."

Dr. Henry W. Kumm of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said that while no cure has yet been developed, research findings of the past two years establish grounds for hope the malady may eventually be conquered.

The New York physician told the annual meeting of the American Medical association of these outstanding developments:

1—The finding that there are only three types of human polio virus, in contrast to the theory that there might be many more—thus narrowing down the area of attack in seeking a preventive vaccine.

2—The finding that the polio virus can be made to grow on tissue other than the nervous system variety—thus expanding possibilities for producing a vaccine.

3—The discovery that in monkeys and chimpanzees, at least, the polio virus first enters the bloodstream instead of heading directly for nerves, as has been previously believed.

4—If that should be true in humans as well, Dr. Kumm said, a blood substance known as gamma globulin—if injected at the right time—might act as a preventive against infection by the polio virus.

Radar Network Reported To Assembly in France

PARIS, June 12 (AP)—Defense Minister Rene Pleven told the National assembly today France now has a radar network ready to function without a break from the English channel to Switzerland.

He made the revelation while answering criticisms raised during week-long debate on the French military budget, and added: "Nothing of the sort existed two years ago."

Pleven told the deputies delivered by the United States to France under the mutual assistance program had already passed the figure of 350,000 tons in weight, without counting military equipment sent directly to Indochina.

He said France should have 15 divisions and 41 air squadrons by the end of next year.

Coast Guardsman Dives From Ferryboat, Drowns

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—A Coast Guardsman, who perched for five hours yesterday atop a 140-foot water tower, today flung himself from a ferryboat and drowned in New York harbor.

He was Deane Hill, 22, of Melrose, Mass., being brought from Groton Station, Conn., to the Marine hospital at Staten Island.

The Coast Guard described him as a suicide.

His body was not recovered immediately.

Hill dodged a lifeboat rescue crew and spurned a lifeline thrown to him in the water.

A Coast Guard announcement here said Hill "broke away from two guards escorting him to the U.S. Public Health hospital at Staten Island, and jumped over the rail of a ferry boat into upper New York harbor."

Police Question Youth On Poconos Murder

SCRANTON, June 12 (AP)—State police announced today that they were questioning Donald Jones, 21, Syracuse, N.Y., to determine if he knew anything about the murder in the Poconos Tuesday night of Mrs. Mary Roberts, 43, Edwinstown. Jones, police said, was picked up while trying to hitchhike a ride to Binghamton, N.Y. He told the officers he was AWOL from the Marine Corps. Authorities emphasized no charge has been placed against Jones.

Police also announced they were looking for two ex-Marines who were in Scranton Tuesday afternoon trying to hitchhike to Pittsburgh. Jonah Roberts, 46, husband of the slain woman, said one of the two hitchhikers he picked up said he was bound for Pittsburgh.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

ROBERT B. (BOB) CONNER—"I was born on August 1, 1908, that makes me 43 on my next birthday"—is one of those Pottstown native sons who took a good hold on his bootstraps many years ago, gave a healthy yank and pulled himself right up into a top role with the United Automobile Workers, CIO.

After nearly 30 years of odd jobs and a long tenure as a turning machine operator for the Spicer Division of the Dana corporation, Conner today is an international representative in the UAW's competitive shop department.

In this capacity, it is his job to help in shop organization and to assist in jurisdictional disputes. He is subject to assignment by UAW's headquarters. Presently he is working in the Allentown-Hellertown-Bethlehem area.

Conner, unmarried, is the son of Mrs. Etta W. Conner and the late Ulysses B. Conner and lives with his mother at 62 West Fourth street.

The eldest of three children—his brother is Joseph (Bus) Conner, former Pottstown athlete, and his sister is Mrs. Francis Gephart—Conner never went to high school. Instead, at the age of 13, he left school to help in the family support. Until he was 17, he did whatever work came along.

"Times were really tough in those days," he recalls with the typical passive patience that marks his casual conversation.

In 1926, he joined the Spicer company as a machine operator. Several years later he went with the Philadelphia Electric company as a serviceman. But in September of 1935, he returned to Spicer's and remained there until promoted by the UAW into his present position on May 26, 1951.

Conner is labor's man. He has espoused the cause of organized labor since his early youth. It is his life, a subject he eats, breathes and sleeps in addition to working at constantly.

"I got the labor philosophy from my father," he says, "who for several years was president of an American Federation of Labor trade union."

That was early in the century before industrial unionism had sprouted and grown; but the seeds had been planted in young Conner. As a result, when the UAW-CIO organized the Spicer shop, Conner was active. Under the late Harper Diener, he was chairman of Local 644's first bargaining committee and held the presidency of the local for three years.

In addition to his interest locally in organized labor's growth, Conner was president of the Montgomery-Chester County CIO Council in the late '40s and served as chairman of the Montgomery County Political Action committee. He was one of the several labor leaders who arranged for the purchase of the Pottstown Community Camp, and with others visioned it as a site for labor education of union members.

He is a member of the board of trustees of the Pottstown hospital and captained one of the teams of the public fund raising organization for that institution. He also was selected recently to assist with organizing the United Fund in Pottstown.

Conner is a big man with friendly, greenish eyes set in a round, ruddy face. When he laughs, it is a hearty laugh that shakes his six foot, four inch frame.

"Years ago," he says with a smile, "I used to weigh about 220 or 225. And I was trim." Then he shrugs his shoulders. "Now I weigh about 275."

The labor representative holds forth no great future plans for himself except to remain on the team he has played for these many years. He will be in there plugging away in his cool logical fashion for the cause of industrial unionism.

And one might surmise that he hasn't relaxed his grip on his well worn bootstraps.

ELMER R. ROTHENBERGER, 49-year-old director of labor relations for the Doehler-Jarvis corporation's Pottstown plant has lived his life according to a code given him by his parents.

"My mother and father taught me the simple principle," he relates. "And it's something my wife and I have brought down to our children. It's just this: 'Honesty, integrity and no fear of the truth.'"

As labor relations director for the big Pottstown industry for the past eight years, the code contributed to the harmonious management-labor cooperation that has marked the company's history.

The slightly built industrialist whose grayish eyes look searchingly from behind his dark rimmed glasses belongs naturally in a world of machinery. His grandfather was a wheelwright, while his father, Lawrence F. Rothenberger, 79, was employed first in carriage making and later in the automobile body trade.

Rothenberger was born in Gilbertsville, July 18, 1903, the youngest of three children. His father still lives in retirement in the house next door to where his son grew up, while his mother, Eva, died in 1939.

The elder Rothenberger was a carriage stripper for many years with the Hartman Carriage Works, and when the automobile replaced the horse, he was employed by the Boyertown Body Works, the carriage company's successor. In all, he was with the firm 40 years. During World War II, he went with Doehler's and retired in 1950.

Young Rothenberger attended public school in Gilbertsville and went three years to Boyertown High school. In the summer following his junior year, he took a job with the Stanley G. Flagg company sorting iron castings and working on the shipping dock.

While so employed, he realized he wanted to learn the toolmaking trade, and although he had difficulty convincing his parents that he should leave school for work, he eventually succeeded and joined Flagg's as an apprentice. He started at 24 cents an hour, and when he completed his four-year training, including nine months at the drafting table, he was earning 60 cents.

He worked for Flagg's for a year, leaving in 1924 to accept a position as toolmaker for the Elliott-Fisher Typewriter company at Harrisburg where he remained only three months.

Returning to Pottstown in August 1925, he went to work for Doehler's as a diemaker, working on the bench until 1936 when he was selected foreman for the second shift. Three years later he was put in charge of the first shift die shop, supervising about 100 men.

In August of 1944, he was offered the position of labor relations director by Manager Howard W. Bartholomew.

In the early 1930's he married the former Miss Ethel V. Fox, of East Greenville, and for many years lived at 1046 Queen street until he bought his present home on Schuylkill road in 1946 which he whimsically calls "Rothenberger's Half Acre." Actually, the property is more like three quarters of an acre, "but," he explains, "that didn't quite sound right as a name."

There are six children: Mrs. Vivian Dyer, Prospect and Diamond streets; Donald, a third year midshipman at the U. S. Naval Academy; Marilyn L., 17; Barbara J., 15; Betty Jane, 13; and Bruce D., 5.

In his youth, Rothenberger was a track man, running the 100-yard dash in 11 seconds and the quarter mile in 58 seconds. But today, he confines his activity to gardening, bowling (best average is 175 "but is slowly declining") and putting out the house.

Rothenberger, who during his apprentice days studied mechanical engineering by correspondence, is a member of the Montgomery County Manufacturers' Association industrial relations committee, the Optimist club, the Eagles, the Elks, and St. John's Evangelical Reformed church.

Breathing deeply of the atmosphere at his "Half Acre," he will remark without apparent provocation: "Right here is the best place in the world to live."

Pottstown Portraits

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

ROBERT B. (BOB) CONNER—"I was born on August 1, 1900, that makes me 43 on my next birthday"—is one of those Pottstown men who took a good hold on his bootstraps many years ago. He is a healthy yank and pulled himself right up into a top role with the United Automobile Workers, CIO.

Robert B. Conner

After nearly 30 years of odd jobs and a long tenure as a turner and machine operator for the Spicer Division of the Dana Corporation, Conner today is an international representative in the UAW's competitive shop department.

In this capacity, it is his job to help in shop organization and assist in jurisdictional disputes. He is subject to assignment by UAW headquarters. Presently he is working in the Allentown-Bethlehem area.

Conner, unmarried, is the son of Mrs. Etta W. Conner and the late Elvies B. Conner and lives with his mother at 62 West Fourth street.

The eldest of three children, his brother is Joseph (Bus) Conner, former Pottstown athlete, and his sister is Mrs. Francis Ephraim—Conner never went to high school. Instead, at the age of 13, he left school to help in the family support. Until he was 17, he did whatever work came along.

"Times were really tough in those days," he recalls with the typical resilient patience that marks his casual conversation.

In 1926, he joined the Spicer company as a machine operator. Several years later he went with the Philadelphia Electric company as a serviceman. But in September of 1935, he returned to Spicer's and remained there until promoted by the UAW into his present position May 26, 1951.

Conner is labor's man. He has espoused the cause of organized labor since his early youth. It is his life, a subject he eats, breathes and sleeps in addition to working at constantly.

"I got the labor philosophy from my father," he says, "who for several years was president of an American Federation of Labor union."

That was early in the century before industrial unionism had rooted and grown; but the seeds had been planted in young Conner. As a result, when the UAW-CIO organized the Spicer shop, Conner was active. Under the late Harper Diener, he was chairman of Local 4's first bargaining committee and held the presidency of the local for three years.

In addition to his interest locally in organized labor's growth, Conner was president of the Montgomery-Chester County CIO Council the late '40s and served as chairman of the Montgomery County Political Action committee. He was one of the several labor leaders who arranged for the purchase of the Pottstown Community Camp, and with others visioned it as a site for labor education of union members.

He is a member of the board of trustees of the Pottstown hospital and captained one of the teams of the public fund raising organization for that institution. He also was selected recently to assist with organizing the United Fund in Pottstown.

Conner is a big man with friendly, greenish eyes set in a round, jolly face. When he laughs, it is a hearty laugh that shakes his six foot, four inch frame.

"Years ago," he says with a smile, "I used to weigh about 220 lbs. And I was trim." Then he shrugs his shoulders. "Now I weigh about 215."

The labor representative holds forth no great future plans for himself except to remain on the team he has played for these many years. He will be in there plugging away in his coolly logical fashion for the cause of industrial unionism.

Not Enough Troops Cited Reason for Outbreak on Koje

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Army leaders have told Congress that one reason for the outbreaks in the seething prisoner of war camp on Koje Island was that not enough U.N. soldiers could be spared from the fighting fronts to maintain order.

This was disclosed today when a House Appropriations subcommittee made public a censored version of testimony taken from Army Secretary Pace and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, at a closed hearing Monday.

Pace reported that at one time 132,000 Communist prisoners on Koje were guarded by only a handful of South Korean troops—between 2500 and 2800 men, he said, under American supervision.

And Collins testified that camp officials were unprepared for the defiance of 70,000 hard-core Communists in the barbed-wire compounds.

THIS DEFIANCE led to the seizure of Col. (then Brigadier-General) Francis T. Dodd by a group of fanatic prisoners May 7, and it expanded into a series of bloody riots in the compounds.

But Pace told the investigators that the American Eighth Army had to be prepared first "to meet and match twice its numbers in the Communist horde fighting against it."

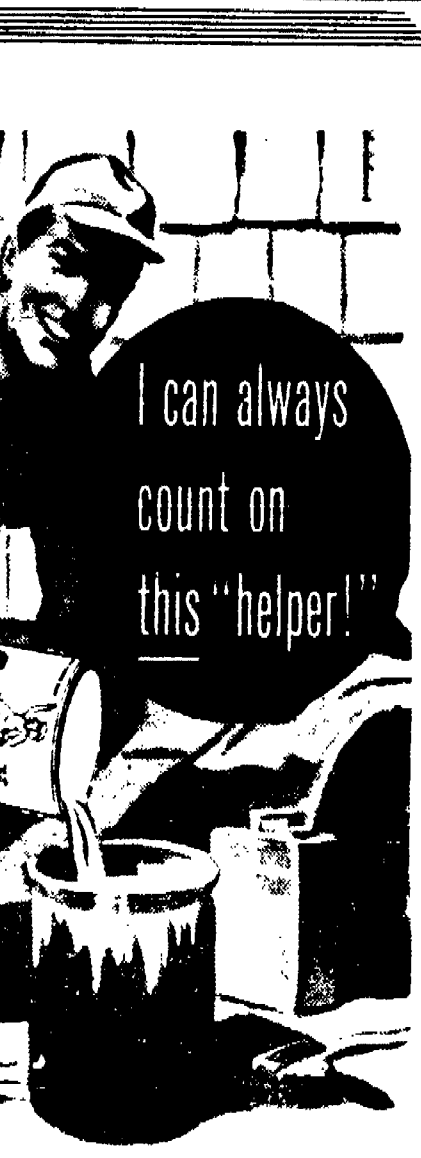

"We can ill spare the men for because of the steel strike, the University of Pittsburgh said today, a signment and still provide a fair rotation of troops which the American people rightly demand," the index tumbled from 184.7 percent of the 1935-39 average in the final Army secretary stated.

Heat generated when steel is dissolved in acid is slightly greater slump will continue because the when a coiled spring is dissolved full effect of the strike is yet to be than when one without tension is used.

Gettysburg Bedecks Itself for Visit by General Eisenhower

GETTYSBURG, June 12 (AP)—Historic Gettysburg bedecked itself in holiday bunting today for a political picnic in behalf of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The townspeople will be on the outside looking in during a get-together tomorrow between the presidential candidate and Pennsylvania's Republican delegation at the Eisenhower farm.

But they're counting on seeing and hearing the retired five-star general during a five-minute talk in Gettysburg square—right in the middle of town.

The community is solidly for Eisenhower, whom it considers an adopted son. Its voters turned in big majorities for him on both the Republican and Democratic tickets in the April 22 presidential preferential primary.

EDWIN F. RUSSELL, Pennsylvania chairman of Citizens for Eisenhower, said more than half of the 70 delegates and their alternates have accepted invitations issued for the picnic.

"We'll be more than satisfied if two-thirds of the delegation shows up on such short notice," Russell told a newsman.

The former NATO commander asked Gov. John S. Fine to set up the picnic get-together at a meeting in New York the past Sunday. Fine agreed and also said he would arrange a similar session in behalf of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio within the next two weeks.

Steel Strike Leaders to Meet in Pittsburgh; May Air Relaxing Union Shop Demands

PITTSBURGH, June 12 (AP)—Theis made up of three international men running the steel strike will officers and 33 district directors, meet tomorrow in a momentous and the 170 members of the wage-session to hear Philip Murray's policy committee. The committee report on the walkout and to plan is composed of the executive their future strategy—possibly re-board, plus representatives from laxation of union shop demands. each USW local.

Murray, president of the striking CIO United Steel Workers and the parent CIO, has summoned the union's executive board and wage policy committee for a joint session at 10 a. m. (Pottstown time).

In an almost unprecedented action, Murray opened part of the meeting to newsmen. He said they will be allowed inside to hear his address to the union leaders and then will be asked to leave while the USW policy makers hold an executive session.

On hand will be the 36 members of the executive board, which USW will give Murray authority to settle for something less.

A union shop is one in which all employees must join the union—if they don't already belong—in some stated time limit—usually 30 days. The industry now operates under a maintenance of membership arrangement in which old employees must remain members if they have been affiliated and new members have a free choice about joining.

MURRAY HASN'T tipped his hand on what he will tell the group or what future action he may be asking the leaders to approve. But the issue of the union shop is sure to be discussed.

When contract talks last collapsed in Washington, union and industry were reported close on wage issues but deadlocked on the USW's demand for a union shop.

Steel industry sources wonder if the union will continue to insist that any forthcoming steel contract include a union shop clause or whether the may take some action designed to keep the law out of the steel dispute.

Some steel workers say they'll work if Truman gets a court injunction under T.H. Others say they won't. In Youngstown, O., District Director James P. Griffen said:

"We may be required by the Government to order our men back to work, but the men themselves might very well tell us to go to hell."

In one Pennsylvania steel town, for a union shop.

USW members voted against accepting a separate contract offered by the Lukens Steel company.

About 4500 employees at Coatesville said no to a proposed contract the company claimed would provide wage boosts of from 12½ cents an hour to 26 cents, plus fringe benefits.

But the pact called for continuing the maintenance of membership clause and did not provide for a union shop.

U. S. Tells Envoys He Is The Stronger As Demo Opposition

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP) — The State department told American envoys abroad today that President Truman believes Senator Taft would be easier for the Democrats to defeat than General Eisenhower.

The word went out in the department's daily wireless bulletin, which is transmitted for the information of foreign service officers overseas and for use of the foreign press and radio. The bulletin included a weekly roundup report on "The U. S. Political Scene."

It said many Democrats hope Taft will be nominated by the opposition.

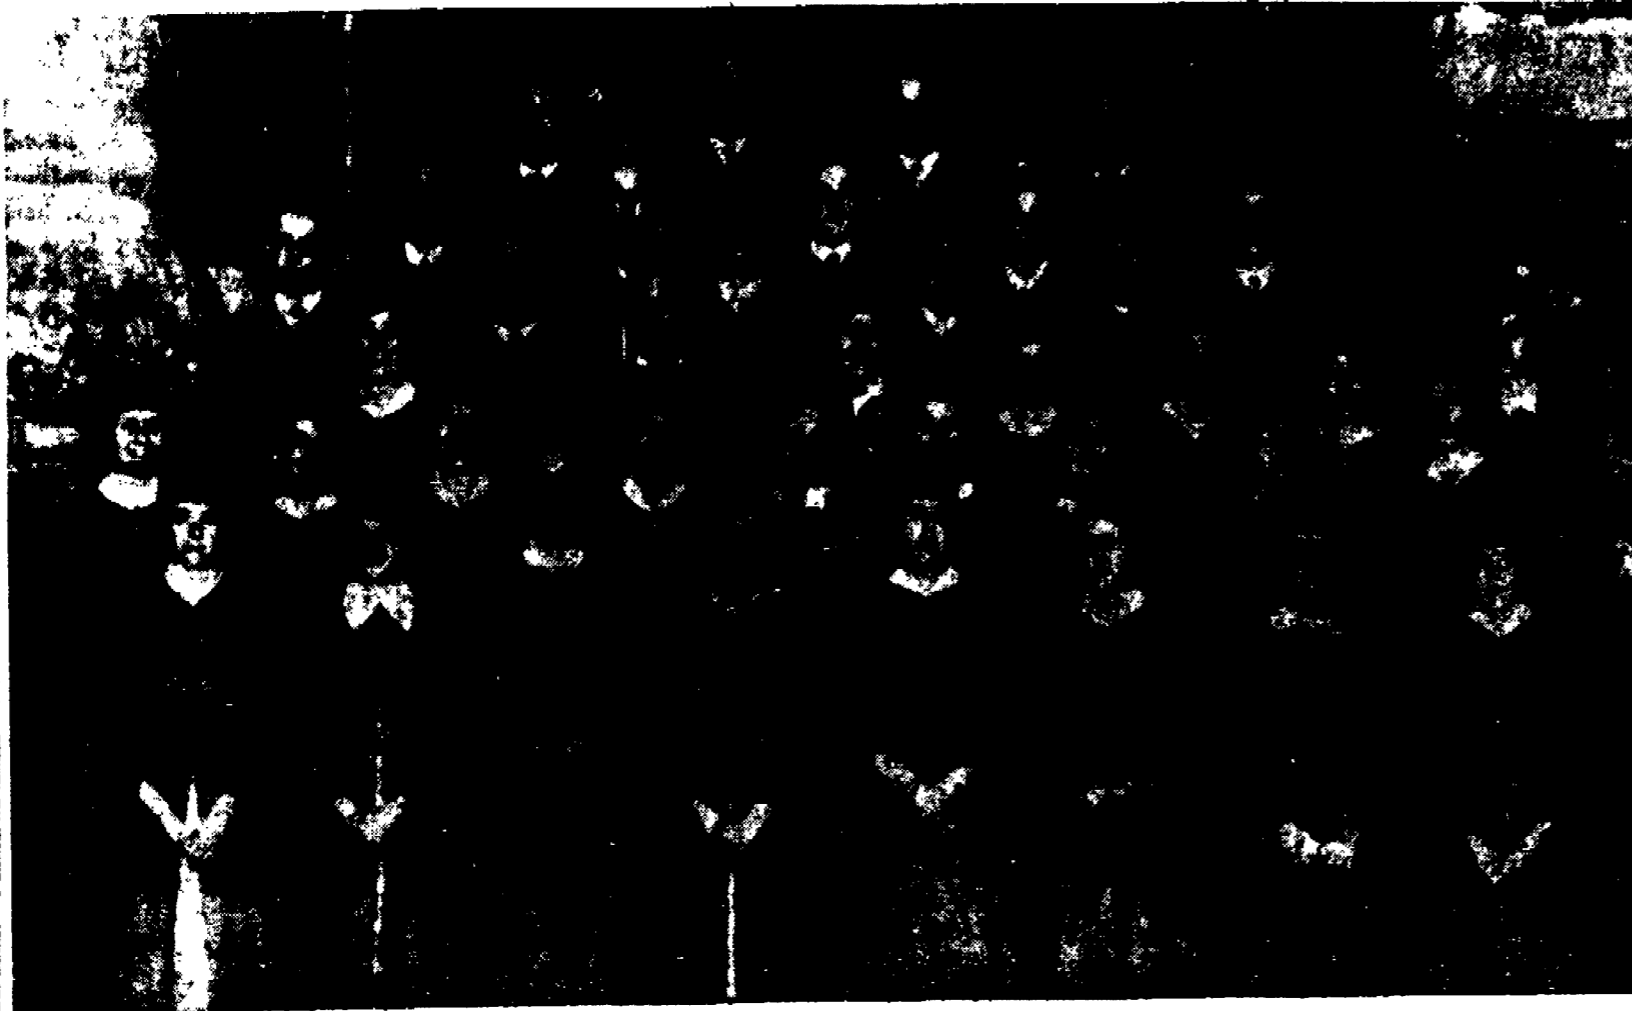

"From President Truman's point of view, Democratic leaders have believed for months past—and still do—that Senator Taft would be easier to defeat than Eisenhower," it said. "They are not therefore, inclined to be too critical of Republican developments which show Taft forces to be in command of the party organization."

The "U. S. Political Scene" bears the byline of J. Lawrence Dean. Officials said this is a pen-name for Theodore A. Huntley, who is chief congressional correspondent for the State department international information administration.

HUNTLEY is a former Washington correspondent for the Pittsburgh Post and in the early 1930's was secretary to Republican Sen. David Reed of Pennsylvania.

A spokesman for Dr. Wilson administration, said that the col-

2.7 Billion Global Military Base Expansion Authorized by House Legislators, 332-7

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP) — A world-wide expansion of military bases costing $2,738,318,000 was authorized by the House today. The roll call vote was 332 to 7.

Administration leaders ushered the giant construction measure through swiftly, escaping any attempt to cut it on the House floor. Now the bill goes to the Senate.

It provides for a total of $1,180,418,000 to be spent in the continental United States on specified projects by the Army, Navy and Air Force. A total of $214,553,000 is earmarked for specified overseas installations, and $1,363,345,000 is for highly secret projects.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.) said only about 6 million dollars in the secret fund would be spent in this country. There are 273 projects in all.

THIS IS the third and last regular Administration measure covering domestic and foreign military expenditures to pass through the House, and the only one to avoid attack on the floor. Since it is merely an authorization measure, the actual money must be appropriated in later legislation.

An item of $250,000,000 originally included in the bill for the American share of North Atlantic treaty air fields was eliminated by the House Armed Services committee. While agreeing that the fields were necessary, the committee said the money for them should be sought in foreign aid legislation.

An additional 19 million was also trimmed out in committee.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.)

said the program had been cut to the point of serious risk in order to get congressional support. He told the House the bill provided for only three new projects.

The rest of the money, he said would be used for expansion through swift improvement of existing facilities.

THE ONLY fight on the measure was a brief skirmish over plans to build a 36-million-dollar bomber base on the campus of Champlain college, N. Y. Rep. Javits (R-NY) tried to block use of the college land, but his amendment lost 34 to 7 on a standing vote.

The bill includes projects for expanding air fields, military and training camps, naval bases and research facilities.

Vinson said it included authorization to purchase about 200,000 acres of land in the United States.

Most of this, he said, will be used to provide longer range targets areas for artillery and tank guns.

Baltzell Church Pastor Shows Slides of Gardens

The Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor of Baltzell Evangelical United Brethren church, showed slides of the Longwood gardens, Hershey gardens, and dogwood in bloom at the Gruber estate during the meeting of the North Coventry Grange last night.

In keeping with the floral theme, the 47 members also heard Mrs. Howard Gaut recite a poem on flowers.

Mrs. Emma Spiese concluded the program by giving a recitation on "Father."

Jack Walters, master, presided over the meeting.

It is estimated that insects each year destroy enough U. S. wheat in storage to fill the wheat needs of 16 million people.

Mrs. Trimble said Weidner also took a phonograph, pots and pans and other silverware which her friend owned, but she declined to press a larceny charge she had filed against Weidner originally.

Kelley told Weidner, "You're lucky she isn't pressing the larceny charge," then directed him to return last night the items owned by his friend.

Mrs. Trimble said her neighbors had informed her that Weidner had removed some things from her trailer between 6 and 7 o'clock Wednesday night while she was at work.

Lower Pottsgrove Police Chief Harry Chrusch arrested Weidner at the trailer park about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning on a warrant obtained by Mrs. Trimble.

HOUSE PAINT

There is a difference — and a big one — in house paints. There's a difference in the way they look when new — an even greater difference in the way they look a few years later. It's technical "know-how" that makes P&L House Paint the all-weather paint — that makes it wear longer and stay cleaner and fresher for more years. Clarence Weidner, 23, of the Sanatoga Trailer park on Route 422, was fined $10 and costs last night by Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, for trespassing in the trailer of Mrs. Little Trimble, another occupant of the park.

Weidner told Kelley he had entered the trailer to recover some of his silverware and phonograph records. He said a woman friend had removed them from his trailer with some things she had had in storage to fill the wheat needs recently into Mrs. Trimble's trailer.

Optimists Hear Talk On Safety, See Film

"Industrial safety work is a thankless job as far as forcing safety onto employees is concerned," H. L. Andrews, safety director of Firestone Tire and Rubber company's Pottstown plant, said last night.

Andrews was the guest speaker at the Optimist club's dinner meeting at the Clover Leaf restaurant.

He showed a film depicting a typical rural community in what was called "Paradise Valley."

A very small population in that community lost at least five persons each year due to accidents caused by carelessness.

The movie showed how the population soon recognized the dangers they had been exposed to, and in order to make the individuals of the community cognizant of the accident potential lurking in the community, signs were posted on spots where persons were killed due to carelessness.

Plans also were made to operate a refreshment stand in Pottstown during the July 4 firemen's parade.

It was announced that the club had won for the sixth year in a row the Second district international award of the club for its activities in boys' work.

NEW SCHOOL —

are the two nearest borough schools.

These West End children represent more than half of Pottstown's bus-transported pupils. Total annual cost of such bus transportation is $810.

In the West End, 100 units of Federal housing are nearing completion north of Penn Village.

In addition, there are sizeable private housing developments being erected in the West King street section.

The school district now owns a tract of land along Berks street not far from the center of the largest new housing developments.

Creswell said that such a school would be vitally needed by 1953. "We're going to get busy," he declared.

Policemen Penalized After Riots Against Ridgway in France

Paris, June 12 (AP)—Prefect of Police Jean Baylot has suspended about 20 policemen and transferred another 60 as a result of the anti-Ridgway riots May 28.

The official announcement said only it was for "the good of the service." But there have been reports in the Paris newspapers that Red spies in the police department tipped off the Communists to the cops' anti-riot plans during the demonstration against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Meanwhile Baylot sent an acid letter to Archbishop Maurice Felin about two priests involved in the riots.

The archbishop had written Baylot complaining about the treatment of the priests after they were picked up by police. He regretted that they had taken part in the demonstrations.

Baylot called the two priests "instruments of Communism" and said the 200 policemen wounded in the riot had just as much right to complain about their treatment.

Bergman's Daughter Finishes Grade School

LOS ANGELES, June 12 (AP)—Jenny Ann Lindstrom, object of a bitter custody feud between her celebrated actress mother and her physician father, finished her elementary schooling today but instead of starting vacation tomorrow she'll be answering questions in court.

Ingrid Bergman is asking the court for permission to have her 13-year-old daughter with her in Italy this summer. The father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, is opposing this with all the legal ammunition he can muster.

During the custody hearing today, Miss Bergman's attorney asked that the girl, whose name was changed by the father from Pia to Jenny Ann, be brought to court voluntarily for questioning tomorrow. Superior Judge Mildred Lillie directed that this be done but that the girl be questioned in the judge's chambers instead of in open court.

The final boy and girl to receive acclamation were from the Pottstown Junior High school. Principal William D. Mower praised both Heather Davidheiser, 232 Prospect street, and Phillip Levitz, Twin-Brooks farm, Sassamansville. He called them the two best students out of 311 graduates.

Following the presentation of awards, the parents were introduced to the Rotary members by Gordon Astheimer.

THE EVENING'S program was concluded by an address from Charles U. Shellenberger, general secretary of the YMCA in Philadelphia. In keeping with the theme, Shellenberger spoke of what he called "the ingredients of service."

"The finest kind of service," he said, "is done voluntarily. Because in this country we serve by choice, it is one of the most precious ingredients of democratic life."

He went on to relate service to humanitarianism, pointing out that the best service is performed by those who are not critical of others because of race or religion.

The third element of genuine service, Shellenberger stated, is unselfishness. He claimed that too many people perform services with self-advantage as the motive.

Shellenberger directed his conclusion directly at the young award winners. He urged them to "conceive of a life which believes there is a purpose to rendering service to others because we know God wants us to do so."

James Baird, secretary of the local YMCA and youth activity chairman for the Rotary club was toastmaster for the evening.

State Democratic Leader Warns of Dixiecrat Influence

JOHNSTOWN, June 12 (AP)—Rep. Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) minority leader in the State House of Representatives and a delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention, said today he will walk out of the convention if the Dixiecrats get control.

Andrews, in an interview, told the Johnstown "Democrat" the country "needs a thorough going political alignment" as the result of Dixiecrat tactics. He declared:

"I am out of step with the times and out of step with the big shot party leaders. The big shots are afraid the Dixiecrats will walk out of the convention. I am afraid they won't march out. If the Dixiecrats are in control of the convention, or force alleged compromises which stultify the traditional position of the party, I want no part of it and I'll walk out."

Andrews, bitterly assailing the Dixiecrat faction of the party, said they "do not belong" in the party. He added:

"Their leaders are a set of blue-nosed reactionaries."

"THEY CHATTER about State rights because they are a firm belief in slave labor. By playing the game the way they do the Dixiecrats make a farce of the session of necessary authorization, penetrated into territory so much about."

"The Dixiecrats line up with renegade Democrats in the north like Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) and with partisan-minded Republicans and they play between the lines spending their time serving the special interests and undermining our Northern economy."

"As soon as the Republican party moves into the South and takes over the Dixiecrats lock, stock and barrel the better it will be for the Democratic party and the country."

Bill Won't Save Lives, Coal Mine Owners Say

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Coal mine owners said today a mine safety bill designed to prevent major disasters wouldn't save a single life.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, told the House labor committee a bill by Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.) cannot properly be called a mine safety measure.

It should be called, he said, a bill providing for Federal control of mines.

Moody said it would give the Federal government control of the mines and would probably result in more fatal accidents rather than fewer.

But if the bill reaches the House floor, Moody said, many Congressmen will vote for it because it has been labeled a mine safety bill.

American Protest Over Wounding Of Truman Appointment

BERLIN, June 12 (AP)—Russia rejected tonight an American protest against the wounding of a U. S. military policeman on the Berlin Lane Jr. as the Nation's new border by Communist police June 4. The Russians claimed only one warning shot was fired in the air Baltimore, said tonight.

The mayor, Maryland's new national committeeman, said he had recommended Lane for the post and that Frank E. McKinney, chairman of the Democratic national committee, had told him Truman was ready to accept that recommendation.

The post, now held by Maj. lard Caldwell, pays $17,500 per year. Caldwell accepted the job 16 months ago with the agreement he would serve a year or until a suitable successor could be found.

The duties include Civil Defense planning, setting up training programs, exchanging information with foreign countries and helping state governments to set up mutual aid plans in the event of an emergency.

GENERAL MATHEWSON described the shooting as "without warning or provocation" while Chenevert and Private Robert D. Oswald were on routine patrol on the limits of the American sector.

Dengen retorted that "through investigation made by me" showed: "An American automobile driver at high speed, disregarding lives in slave labor. By playing the game the way they do the Dixiecrats make a farce of the session of necessary authorization, penetrated into territory so much about."

"The Dixiecrats line up with renegade Democrats in the north like Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) and with partisan-minded Republicans and they play between the lines spending their time serving the special interests and undermining our Northern economy."

"As soon as the Republican party moves into the South and takes over the Dixiecrats lock, stock and barrel the better it will be for the Democratic party and the country."

Two Area Women 'Invade' South, Win Awards for Cooking

Two Pottstown area women returned yesterday from a highly successful invasion of Southern cooking territory.

Competing in the national chicken-cooking contest with 104 other contestants, most of them Southerners, Mrs. Ernest Schultz and her sister, Mrs. August Wahlman, Knauertown, Pottstown RD 2, won first and third prizes, respectively. Their prizes included $850 in cash.

The contest was held Wednesday in Pocomoke City, Md., as part of the 1952 Delmarva Chicken Festival.

Mrs. Wahlman, whose third prize was $250, is secretary of Warwick school board. Her older sister is librarian of Bordentown (N. J.) Military academy but spends her summers on the Knauertown farm of her brother-in-law and sister.

ALTHOUGH the sisters are Yankees now, they were born on the Mason Dixon line, in Rising Sun, Md.

Mrs. Wahlman scored with baked chicken in sautee sauce. Her sister took first prize with roast chicken in aluminum foil.

Contestants could cook the chickens any way they wanted, but had to use official contest chickens and equipment.

Mrs. Schultz was crowned queen of the contest and rode a queenly float in a two-hour parade Wednesday night.

Mrs. Wahlman said she suspected that some of the Southern contestants took a dim view of two sisters coming down from the North to take top honors. But, she added, the Southerners managed to show their usual hospitality.

The sisters can get chicken-cooking practice right on the Wahlman farm, where there are 2000 chickens.

Mrs. Schultz' late husband was director of Camp Delmont, near Summertown, a quarter-century ago.

National Guard Pilots Are Absolved of 'Buzzing'

HARRISBURG, June 12 (AP)—A State investigation today absolved Pennsylvania Air National Guard pilots of any responsibility in the "buzzing" of an airliner over Pittsburgh the past week.

"An extensive investigation conducted by the military affairs department has produced no conclusive evidence to show that pilots of the Air National Guard stationed at Greater Pittsburgh airport were involved," Col. Robert C. Boden, deputy State adjutant general for air, said in a statement.

The buzzing incident occurred on the night of June 4 when a C-46 non-scheduled airliner was forced into a power dive to avoid a collision with two smaller aircraft. The airliner pilot said he was unable to positively identify the smaller aircraft.

Birdsboro Bar Owners Freed of Charges Of Selling Liquor to Area Underage Youth

John L. D'Augustine, proprietor of the St. Elmo hotel, Birdsboro, who was charged with two counts of liquor law violations involving a minor, was acquitted by a Berks county jury in Reading yesterday.

The violations charged were liquor sales to minors and permitting minors to frequent the bar.

Similar charges against Harold P. Diehl, Virgil M. Boughter and Chestina M. Carroll, of the Mansion House in Birdsboro, were dropped by the district attorney's office upon payment of costs by the three defendants.

State liquor control board agents who brought the prosecutions sought convictions on the testimony of Charles E. Blanchard, 20, of Birdsboro RD 1, who since has pleaded guilty to two automobile theft charges, and is awaiting sentence.

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S

Advice to the Lovelorn

Husband Doesn't Share

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am very disappointed in my marriage. I married a man who already had a small son, whom I think as much of as if he were really mine. I have been married to him almost six months, and I am going on 28.

I have a job and don't make too much money, but it helps out with our expenses. I never know how much my husband makes and he never gives me any money unless I ask him for it, and then it is usually for something we need and not for my personal use.

Cook-Out Is Staged

By Girl Scout Troop Of Lutheran Church

A cook-out at the home of Miss Mildred Geist, Ringing Rocks, was staged last night by members of Girl Scout Troop 4 of Grace Lutheran church.

Miss Geist, along with Miss La Rue Bickel and Miss Joyce Herrlinger were leaders for the affair.

Special scout dishes, such as hot dogs, hamburgers and ice cream made into "kalobs," "angels on horseback" and "snow" on the mountain, were made by the troop members.

Badges for child care were awarded to the following: Judy Lightcap, Diane Sandquist, Joan Russel, Nancy Henry, Anita Shaner, Nancy Wilson, Patsy Hanna and Ruth Moyer.

Plans to hike to the farm of Mr. Walter Dames on June 26 were made. It was announced that members of Patrols one and two of the troop will hold a breakfast cook-out tomorrow morning.

Scouts attending were: JOANNE LEISER, Betty Taglier, Joan Caloen, Ruth Moyer, Nancy Henry, Joan Russell, Susan Keeler, Barbara Heft, Diane Sandquist, Ann Marie Barndt, Judy Fryer, Mary Alice McCabe, Barbara Shaner, Joan Wagner, Marsha Boughter, Barbara Johnson and Kathleen Shaner.

Also, Patsy Hanna, Nancy Wilson, Donna Henry, Ella Mae Law's help, then I suggest that you go to some organization in town, Bortner, Anita Shaner and Regina whose business it is to help people solve family problems.

If you don't know where to go write me again and I will send you the information.

RETURNING BOY FRIEND

CREATES PROBLEM

Dear Miss Fairfax: Two years ago, while on a Summer vacation, I met a boy I liked very much. Soon after, he had to leave for Army duty and he is now in Korea.

My problem is that he is soon to come home under the rotation plan, and he tells me in his letters how much he loves me and that he wants to come to see me. His home is about 400 miles from where I live, and he seems to expect me to invite him to stay with me when he comes. I don't think my father would like the idea of him coming such a long distance to see me. Do you think I should let him come, but tell him that he must make his own arrangements about a place to stay?

Dear N. D.:

If your parents understand that you and this boy have been corresponding with each other for the past two years and have become good friends, I shouldn't think they would mind his paying you a visit. Most people are glad to be hospitable to a boy who has been far away on the battlefield so long. I would feel that it would be nice if your mother would write him a note herself, and invite him to come and see you. She could wait until he got back to this country, then send him the invitation, simply saying that if he found he had time for a little visit to your home, he would be welcome. Or

The big hat is doing all right this season. Some of the cartwheels are lavishly trimmed and of original fabrics such as delicate lace over silk or starched organdie or chiffon in lavers. But the most popular biggie of all is the one of natural milan straw, ribbon trimmed. This hat sets out to show that two brims are smarter than one. A stiff, smaller brim is piped with black velvet to match the ribbon around the crown giving a flattering lift to the deeper, larger brim.

Area Man to Face Court With Brother On Assault Charges

A Collegeville man and his brother from Tylersport are being held under $1000 bail for court on assault and battery charges resulting from a beating suffered by a Creamery constable May 3 at Tylersport as he attempted to serve a non-support warrant on the Collegeville man.

Charles Sells, 29, of River road, Collegeville, and his brother, James, 34, of Tylersport, were ordered held by Norrisstown Magistrate Charles J. Gorman at a hearing Wednesday night. A third man, Harry Harpon, Almont, was discharged for lack of evidence.

The brothers were charged with taking the gun of Constable Robert W. Nester, 34, and beating him. Nester was taken to Montgomery hospital, Norrisstown, for treatment of head and face injuries. He remained there until May 6.

The brothers were arrested separately May 3 by State police and a preliminary hearing was held May 6. A warrant was issued for Harpon's arrest after the hearing.

The warrant Nester was attempting to serve on Charles Sell when he was beaten had been issued by Schwenksville Magistrate Walter Jarman. It charged Sell with failure to support a child and had been obtained by Anna M. Trumbauer, Green Lane.

Nester had gone to the Tylersport home on learning the Collegeville man might be there.

CONGRESS PUTS NEW BLOCKS IN PATH OF SEIZURE

Banking Committee Beats
Down President's Move
To Seize Steel Industry

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Congress raised new snags against President Truman's drive for power to seize the strike-crippled steel industry today as the House Banking committee followed the Senate's lead in beating down such a move.

At the same time, the Senate battle over the issue collapsed when last-ditch advocates of presidential seizure authority gave up the fight, at least temporarily. They had been heavily out-numbered since the outset.

The Senate then voted 58 to 18 to pass an economic controls law extension carrying a provision virtually demanding that Truman use the Taft-Hartley law in the steel strike.

Truman has denounced the T-H act as unfair and as probably an ineffective method of trying to settle the steel dispute.

SENATOR MAYBANK (D-SC), quarterbacking the pro-seizure forces, indicated that the issue would be sidetracked until late this Summer after the July political conventions.

If so, it could mean another long-drawn struggle in the thick of Washington's mid-Summer heat. The House Banking committee voted 15 to 10 to reject the first seizure proposal formally raised in that chamber.

Gunmen Take Over Hotel and Rob 25 Guests

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Three brazen young gunmen took over a 16-story hotel early today, running its switchboard, elevator and desk—and leisurely robbing some 25 guests.

The bandits held control of the 297-room Hotel Emerson on West 75th street for about three hours. Not a shot was fired.

A gunman on the switchboard carefully followed the schedule to wake up guests who'd left calls. Many of them came down from their rooms in time to get caught in the holdup in the lobby.

Victims were forced to lie on the floor. Men guests were made to remove their trousers, apparently to discourage any break for freedom.

THE TRIO got more than $500 in cash and $2500 in jewels from guests, plus $102 from the hotel's cash register. They also smashed open a cigaret machine and doled out smokes to their victims.

One of the robbery victims thought the men seemed "hopped up" on dope. They kept their hats pulled low on their foreheads. They appeared in their 20's.

The gunmen walked into the Emerson's lobby about 5 a. m. (Pottstown time). They quickly made prisoners of night clerk Martin Henry, 35, and elevator Operator Hilliard Jackson, 54.

"Sit down at that desk," they commanded Henry. "Keep your head down or we'll blow it off."

Then one gunman took over the elevator, a second the switchboard and a third the desk.

As guests arrived or left, they were casually relieved of their valuables and made to lie on the lobby floor.

Keynoter Job Called Political by Truman

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—said they plan no action against President Truman took a hands-off attitude today toward Gen. Douglas MacArthur's delivering the keynote speech at the Republican National convention.

But he left himself leeway to ring the bell on the general later should he wish to do so.

Truman told his news conference he regards the keynote assignment as political.

But on the question of whether Army regulations forbid such political activity by a general who hasn't retired, the President said that's the Army's baby.

HE WENT on to say, under repeated prodding by correspondents, that he hasn't discussed the matter if he would use the selective service with Army authorities, who have ice act.

Legislation Passed by Senate for Extension Of Gov't. Control on Prices, Wages, Rents

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The Senate passed 58 to 18 and sent to the House today legislation to extend through next Feb. 28 the Government's authority to control prices, wages and rents.

Authority for credit curbs and for allocation of scarce materials to industry would be extended for a full year until June 30, 1953.

The bill also contains language requesting President Truman to invoke the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley act in the present steel dispute. These authorize the President to seek 60-day no-strike injunctions in work stoppages where the nation's security is involved.

Senate passage of the controls extension came swiftly today after those advocating alternative proposals to deal with the steel strike gave up the effort to attach them to the bill, saying they would seek separate legislation instead.

PRESENT AUTHORITY for all the anti-inflation controls expires two and a half weeks from now, at midnight June 30. Truman asked for a two-year extension, but the Senate voted only an eight-month one. Many members argued that inflationary pressures are ebbing.

Around the Nation

Allies Are Favored
WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—John M. McCloy told Senators today that the people of East Germany, although under iron rule by puppets of the Kremlin, really favor a move toward German unity with Western Europe.

McCloy, who has been directing U. S. policy in West Germany for two years as high commissioner, said that despite a Kremlin campaign of terror and conquest, the people of both portions of divided Germany favor an alliance with the West.

Secret polls showed this he said.

Slaying Admitted
SANTA FE, N. M., June 12 (AP)—Two long-term prisoners have admitted slaying an unarmed penitentiary guard yesterday while trying to escape.

Dist. Atty. Bert Prince said the prisoners told of their attempted escape at a midnight coroner's inquest.

The jury found that the guard, Filemon J. Ortiz, 54, died of "mortal bodily wounds inflicted by Donald Maynard and Homer Gossett."

Taft Says Allies Should Leave After Equipping Koreans

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today the United Nations should pull its troops out of Korea as soon as the South Koreans can be armed.

Meanwhile, he suggested we "drag our feet" in the Korean truce talks until American arms production gets rolling at a speed necessary to outfit South Korean forces.

Taft said bombing of China above the Yalu river would have worked a year ago when it was favored by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Now it's too late, he added, because the Reds have too much land and air superiority.

The Ohio Republican, in a whirlwind invasion of generally pro-Eisenhower territory here, found himself more or less in agreement with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Korean issue.

Taft flew in last night for a one-day visit here.

Ike Didn't Advise German Partition

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the decision to partition Germany into separate zones of occupation—leaving Berlin cut off inside Russian territory—was taken against his advice.

"That was one of the pieces of advice they didn't accept," he said, having previously stated he offered some other counsels. The statement was made in a long and searching conference with more than 100 Republican convention delegates and prominent party-members from New Jersey.

Eisenhower also said:

1. He would have invoked the Taft-Hartley act in the steel strike dispute.

2. He considers the seizure of the steel industry by the President to have been illegal.

3. Taking Gen. Matthew Ridgway's conception as his own, he sees no "definite answer" to the problem of ending the war in Korea.

In Order Again

West German border guards wear steel helmets for first time since end of World War II, at Bonn after the Republic was given virtual sovereignty by Allies.

World News Briefs

Reds Off Stride
MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, June 13 (AP)—Observers said today Communist truce negotiators apparently have been thrown off stride by Allied refusal to bargain further on prisoner exchange and the stern show of force on Kojie island.

At Red insistence, United Nations command negotiators agreed to meet in Panmunjom again at 11 a. m. today (10 p. m. Pottstown time) for another attempt to break the long prisoner exchange deadlock.

Broadcasts Barred
PUSAN, Korea, Friday, June 13 (AP)—Voice of America broadcasts have been barred from the South Korean government's radio network because they carried "obviously insulting" attacks on the actions of President Syngman Rhee in the Korean political crisis, a spokesman announced Thursday.

"We do not dispute the airing of such opinions under other auspices," the government spokesman said. "But I am determined that the Korean government network will not be used to tear down its own sovereign state."

CHINA ENVOY NAMED
LONDON, Friday, June 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Alexander S. Panyushkin, former Soviet ambassador in Washington, has been named the Soviet envoy to Red China. Panyushkin is now enroute to Moscow. His place in Washington is being taken by Georgi N. Zarubin who is being transferred from London.

Allied Infantry Hurls Back Chinese Attacks

SEOUL, Friday, June 13 (AP)—Allied infantrymen supported by night-flying bombers hurled back two fierce Chinese attacks last night and early today on the hotly-contested western front.

The Reds, bitter over the loss of key hill position after 14 hours of see-saw fighting Thursday, attacked shortly before midnight and again at 1 a. m.

The Chinese still held part of a "T" shaped hill mass where furious fighting raged into the seventh straight day.

The two sides lobbed a rain of mortar shells at each other from the heights. Night bombers roared low in attacks against the Chinese.

THE SCENE was the hills west of Chonwon, which is 48 miles north of Seoul on one of the ancient routes of invasion.

Furious fighting also broke out on the central front southeast of Kumsong. Allied troops with flamethrowers drove about 100 Chinese from bunkers. They reported most of the Reds were casualties.

In this grim maneuvering for better tactical positions in the event of a Chinese offensive, the Allies called in the Air Force from its major task of smashing Communist supply lines and bases.

Waves of fighter-bombers roared over the hills, raining bombs, bullets and flaming jellied gasoline on the Chinese from dawn to dusk.

Allied pilots still found time to stage a heavy raid on a Red supply base on the nearby Haeju peninsula. Pilots reported they destroyed 34 storage buildings and damaged 12 more.

Security Measures
Of Shoot-to-Kill
Extended by Russians

BERLIN, June 12 (AP)—The shoot-to-kill security measures the Soviet zone government instituted on the frontier between East and West Germany May 26 were ordered extended today to include the border around West Berlin.

Deputy Prime Minister Walter Ulbricht, Moscow's most trusted East German agent, signed the order to the People's Police, already squeezing hard upon the Allied sectors with roadblocks, gunplay and kidnappings.

It was another Communist move in open reprisal for the signing of West Germany's peace contract and military alliance with the West that Red leaders say will mean civil war.

Among other developments of the day:

The Western big three high commissioners served notice here the United States, Britain and France are ready to counter new cold war attacks and rush economic aid to the encircled city of 2,200,000 that lies 100 miles behind the Soviet army's front line in Europe.

2 Kojie Transfers Are Done Peacefully

KOJIE ISLAND, Korea, Friday, June 13 (AP)—Two of Kojie's toughest prison compounds, cowed by the new Allied policy of stern discipline backed by force, submitted peacefully today to transfer to other and smaller quarters.

Marching five abreast in columns of 150 men, 2700 officers and 650 non-commissioned officers began moving out of Compound 66 at 10 a. m. They marched between shoulder-to-shoulder rows of Canadian and British soldiers into large trucks for transfer to 500-man compounds in another valley, one mile away.

Another group of 200 North Korean war crimes suspects moved out of Compound 90 earlier today into a new and smaller enclosure nearby.

Self-disciplined North Korean officers from 66, carrying their belongings, sang Communist songs as they marched to the trucks.

Rotarians to Send Three Area Youths To Leadership Camp

Pottstown Rotary club will send three Pottstown area senior high school pupils to the "Youth Leadership camp" to be held for a week beginning Sunday at Camp Delmont, near Summerville.

This was announced yesterday, chosen for their "scholarship."

by James F. Baird, general secretary of the Pottstown YMCA, and the Rotarian the leadership camp committee.

The three boys are Jack Bechtel, 542 High street, Pottstown Senior High school; Frederick G. Kerlin, Douglassville RD 1, North Conventry High school, and Richard Geisler, 103 East Howard street, Stowe, West Pottsgrove High school.

Baird said the boys were chosen for their "scholarship."

leadership, civic participation." Taking part in the program will be business and professional men ranging from Montgomery county President Judge Harold G. Knight to W. S. Franklin, president, Pennsylvania railroad.

Valley Forge council, Boy Scouts, which owns Camp Delmont, is making it available to the Rotary clubs.

It has been calculated that there are 10 billion tons of gold in the sea water of the world.

Detailed Plans Laid For ABC Circus

The circus will come to town on July 12 when the American Business club of Pottstown sponsors a two-performance show opposite the Pottstown Youth Centre.

Harry Mason, a representative of the Hagen Brothers Circus, was present at last night's meeting of the ABC at the Elks' Home where plans were made for the distribution of tickets, admissions charges, costs and other administrative matters.

At last night's meeting the club began "passing-the-hat" to raise funds for the Bobby Shantz fund and decided to turn over the club's contributions weekly to the Mercury.

Leonard Rachid was named chairman of the committee collecting the money for the fund, and his assistants will be Leonard Hiltwine and Donald Sands.

Second GI Is Given Death Sentence for Murder of Germans

NUERNBERG, Germany, June 12 (AP)—A U. S. Army court martial today sentenced a second American soldier to death for his part in the highway murder of two Germans the past April.

Pvt. Richard A. Hagelberger, 19, of Chula Vista, Calif., stood impassively as the court handed down the death penalty for the carbine slayings which had aroused bitter German indignation.

His buddy, 19-year-old Pvt. John F. Vigneault, of Goff's Falls, N. H., whose written confession said Hagelberger "egged me on" to do the actual shooting, got a similar death sentence May 22.

The confessions of both men, admitted by the court as evidence, said they killed the two German civilians who had given them a ride early in the morning of April 19 so they could steal the Germans' car. The victims were Karl Eckart, 56, a businessman, and Lotmar Schlosser, 26, who worked with the U. S. high commission on a program for bettering German-American relations. Both were from nearby Neustadt.

The diameter of the rim of Chubb Crater in Northern Quebec averages 11,500 feet. The circumference is 6.8 miles.

3 Here Make Trip To West Coast for Kiwanis Convention

Three Pottstown men, who seldom miss a big convention of Kiwanis International, will attend the one beginning Sunday in Seattle, Wash.

The three are Dr. Paul Z. Hoffman, 513 High street, dentist, C. making up for this by taking the Raymond Eppheimer, 947 High street, owner of Pottstown Auto Refinishing company, and Harry W. Buchert, Pottstown RD 4, part-owner of Sunnybrook park.

The first two are making the trip with their wives. Buchert's wife, Minnie Kepler Buchert, who went on previous convention trips and who planned to go on this one, died the past September.

This year, Dr. Hoffman and Eppheimer are the club's official delegates, although all three usually go whether or not they are delegates that particular year.

FOUR YEARS ago, the Pottstown group planned to return from the California trip by the northern route, but were prevented from doing so by floods. They are making up for this by taking the northern route westward this year.

In addition to covering most sections of the United States, the Pottstown men's convention travels in this predominantly Roman Catholic nation.

"Gaul," the old English term for France, is pronounced "jail."

The group is making the trip by a special Kiwanis train that left Sunday. The convention, which ends June 19, will have "Liberty—Let's Keep It!" as the keynote.

Speakers will include Theodore R. McKeldin, Maryland's governor, and Major Gen. William J. Donovan, World War II director of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS).

PROPOSAL REJECTED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 12.—The Brazilian Chamber of Deputies today decided, by a vote of 187 to 46, against changing the constitution to make divorce legal.

Faculty Trouble Denied By Resigning Teacher

Thomas G. Roberts Jr., former music supervisor of Lower Providence township schools, who with three teachers in the township's Audubon school is resigning, denied yesterday that he said that faculty trouble was the cause of his leaving.

A news story in yesterday's Mercury linked such trouble at Audubon school to his resignation.

He said he left because he wanted to specialize in instrumental music, which he will do next year at three schools outside Lower Providence. The news story said this was his "main reason" for leaving.

New Guppy Is Bred; American Flag for Tail

LONDON, June 12.—On view at the exhibition of the British National Aquarist society—a guppy, a fish, having an American flag for a tail.

The tail is red, white and blue, and while the number of white stars isn't right in all instances, breeders say that is unimportant because guppies can't count.

The flag-tail guppy with the stars and stripes motif was bred by W. G. Phillips, Harrow, business man and dedicated aquarist.

It took him 20 years of experimenting to get the flag just about right.

For the aquarists the show, with its 2000 tanks and 25,000 fish of 1500 varieties, is the biggest ever.

N. Y. Port Authority Votes for Reopening Of Newark Airport

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Port of New York authority today voted to reopen Newark, N. J., airport at 12:01 a. m. next Monday, but ordered special new restrictions applied to its operation.

The airport was closed the past February after the third in a series of airplane crashes in near-Elizabeth, N. J.

At a meeting today, the port authority—which operates the airport—decided to reopen it, with strict curbs on the use of certain runways and new minimum flying-weather requirements.

The authority directed that one runway running toward Elizabeth and another running toward Newark not be used for takeoffs and a third runway running from the direction of Elizabeth not be used for landings.

UNDER THE new rules, operations at the airport are to be permitted only when there is a 1000-foot ceiling and three mile visibility, or better.

The three air crashes, all within a period of a few months, took a toll of 119 lives.

Some of them were residents of Elizabeth whose homes were wrecked or their property from there.

The accidents stirred a rising storm of protests among townspeople, and culminated in the airport shutdown after the Feb. 11 crash.

The port authority itself ordered the closing.

The airport had been one of the busiest in the East.

In deciding to reopen it, port authority Chairman Howard S. Cullman said the new restrictions had been adopted precisely in line with those recommended by a national air transport co-ordinating committee.

It is believed that the Eskimos lived north of Lake Superior about 2000 years ago and moved north wrecked or their property from there.

Air Force to Send Local Optometrist To Military Parley

Dr. Elmer S. Friedberg, Pottstown optometrist, is one of two reserve officers in eastern Pennsylvania selected by the Air Force to attend the field economic industrial mobilization conference to be held in Columbus, Ohio, for two weeks, commencing Monday.

This conference will be attended by high-ranking Air Force officers and civilians holding key positions in industry from various parts of the United States.

They will discuss various rearmament problems arising in the national economy resulting from present international conditions.

Gov. Frank Lausche will be the principal speaker at the opening exercises.

DR. FRIEDBERG holds a major's commission in the U. S. Air Force reserve and commands the Pottstown unit of the Air Force reserve. He served with a bomber group in Europe during World War II, and was awarded the Air Medal and Presidential Unit Citation.

He is active in veterans' affairs and is a candidate for the position of junior vice commander of George Amole Post 47, American Legion.

He has also been serving as the chairman of the Red Cross blood for Korea drives.

DRIVING COURSE —

driving students have had the option of having the extra $5 applied to membership in the auto club.

The net estimated cost of continuing such a program this summer is $373.20.

Total cost of the proposed program would have been $1000.

In addition to paying out $373 for a program it did not consider essential, Yohn noted, the board would have to pay for the wear and tear on the driver-training car provided the school by an auto dealer.

One reason that the school district's share would have been high this summer was that Charles I. Hamilton, driving instructor in the schools, would not have been able to be a teacher in the program because he is taking graduate courses.

BECAUSE of Hamilton's greater training, the State has contributed a bigger share of Hamilton's salary on the Summer job than of the salary of Earl R. Strange, the other Summer driving teacher.

According to Castle's letter, the school district would have had to sever its connection with the auto club in the program, or face an even greater cost than the estimated $373.20.

Clark wrote, "If a fee of any sort has been effected or received from any member of your driver training classes for such service previously rendered, those classes would be ineligible for approval of extension reimbursement."

The reimbursement is made the year following the expenditure.

AUTO CLUB officials were attending a convention in Pittsburgh yesterday and were not available for comment on the future of the program.

The driver training program has been in competition with one operated privately by David Hartman, Pottstown RD 1, for the past four years.

Mrs. Anthony Panfile, 61 Beech street, confirmed the financial arrangement for the training. She and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Patrick Panfile, 304 Berks street, Snow, who took the course separately, both said they applied their $5 of the $15 to auto club membership.

Both women said they thought the course was excellent and was a big help in enabling them to pass their State driving test.

Another woman who did not pass the State test when she first tried after taking the course, said the course generally was good but objected to the fact that two or more students used the car during the same hour of instruction.

GAMBLERS —

gamblers, who gives his occupation as "gambler" in his income tax return, recently sold his large car and is now using a much cheaper automobile.

THE GOVERNMENT agents play no favorites and crack down wherever they uncover a delinquency in taxes, whether the subject is a gambler or pursues some other means of making a living.

One of the largest liens recently placed on file in the prothonotary's office at the court house was for $36,460.72 against Robert E. and Mary D. Rome, of Main and Swede streets, Norristown. Rome operates a curbstone newsstand at that location.

The judgment was filed by the government for 1948 and 1949 income taxes.

Defender of Faith Against Nazism Dies

MUNICH, Germany, June 12 (AP)—Michael Cardinal Von Faulhaber, 83, an outspoken defender of the Roman Catholic faith against encroachments of both Nazism and Communism, died today after a brief illness.

He was archbishop of Munich and Freising.

The end came at his palace in Munich, the birthplace of Nazism, as thousands marched in a Corpus Christi Day procession. Bells of the Munich cathedral and other Catholic churches tolled for 15 minutes.

At a postwar reunion of his old regiment, he said, "War is no longer human and combat between nations is a great nuisance."

He was vigorous in his attacks on the Nazi program. These made him a target for abuse from fanatic supporters of Hitler. Revolver shots were fired through windows of the Arch-Episcopal palace in 1934. A mob stormed the palace in 1938.

Zsa Zsa Gabor Makes Classroom Appearance

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP)—You can't accuse Zsa Zsa Gabor's press agent of being unwilling to go along with a gag.

Seems that some days ago pupils in the Latin class of David McGrath at Fairfax High school inquired about the chances of skipping final examinations.

No, said McGrath, adding what he probably thought was the most unlikely occurrence possible—"unless Zsa Zsa Gabor should drop in to see us."

That was enough for five of the pupils. One of them knew Zsa Zsa's publicist. They went to see him.

Result: Today, with the exams scheduled, in walked Zsa Zsa.

And an open-mouthed McGrath: "This is the biggest thing that's happened to Latin since the fall of the Roman empire."

On the blackboard he wrote: "Zsa Zsa omni vincit."

Translation: "Zsa Zsa conquers all."

Md. Governor Says Nomination Combine Proposed to Him

BALTIMORE, June 12 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin confirmed today he had been approached about setting up a three-State combine designed to decide who gets the Republican nomination for president.

The approach was made by an emissary ostensibly from Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, but McKeldin said today:

"I, of course, have no way of knowing whether the person who approached me had authority from Gov. Fine. Perhaps the same person still has to make contact with Gov. Fine."

"The initiative in this matter certainly is not mine, and if Gov. Fine is not interested that ends it."

IN HARRISBURG, Gov. Fine said he hasn't proposed any get-together of Republican National convention delegates from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Michigan.

Convention delegates from the three states—there are 140 of them all together—could be the deciding factor in the contest between Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the nomination.

McKeldin is generally credited with control of 18 to 20 of Maryland's 24 votes in the convention as thousands marched in a Corpus Christi Day procession. Bells of the Munich cathedral and other Catholic churches tolled for 15 minutes.

The key man in Michigan is Arthur Summerfield, Republican national committeeman. Michigan has 16 convention vote, with seven delegates committed to Eisenhower and six to Taft.

Summerfield said in Chicago he could not talk about what the uncommitted members of the Michigan delegation will do.

A POSSIBLE prize for Maryland's governor if he should join in a successful maneuver is the vice-presidential nomination.

He has said he would be happy to be the party's vice-presidential candidate. Early in the jockeying he said he'd be happy to run on a ticket headed by Taft. More recently he has made complimentary remarks about Eisenhower.

McKeldin led 20 of the State's 24 delegates to New York yesterday for a call on Eisenhower. Afterward he would say only that Eisenhower had made "an excellent impression" but declined again to commit himself to either Eisenhower or Taft.

The Maryland delegation is pledged to vote for McKeldin for president on the first ballot.

SCRANTON, June 12 (AP)—Speaking at memorial services today opening the seventh annual convention of the Department of Pennsylvania Marine Corps league, the Rev. Michael A. Hall, Milford, said that the nation's "distressful and unsettled conditions are due to selfishness, envy and the inordinate greed for power and wealth."

Phila. Choir Boy Drowns While Mother Watches

NORRISTOWN, June 12 (AP)—While his mother watched helplessly, a 12-year-old choir boy of St. Columba's church in Philadelphia drowned today in Mermaid lake while bathing with a group of young picnic companions.

The mother of the victim, Martin O'Hara, Mrs. Edward O'Hara, chaperoned the outing of altar boys and choir boys.

Lifeguards recovered the youngster's body about 10 minutes after he went under.

Singer, 48, are both graduates of the college. Mrs. Singer is the mother of Mrs. Elizabeth Crowell, 73, her wage increase up to 26 cents an hour. Bomber Crashes In Central Pacific HONOLULU, June 12 (AP)—The Air Force today reported a B29 bomber crashed in the sea, 75 miles west of Kwajalein in the central Pacific, at 2:40 p. m. Hawaiian standard time (8:40 p. m. Pottstown time).

An accompanying B29 reported sighting one survivor in a life raft. The bombers were enroute from Kwajalein to Guam.

The sister B29 circled the ditching scene while an Air Force crashboat started for the area from Kwajalein island.

A Navy Albatross seaplane

Issue on Pocahontas Cools Historic Shrine May Remain

By LAURA FENNER (Central Press Correspondent)

GRAVESEND, England, June 12 — After months of controversy over the possibility of razing St. George's church, resting place of America's Indian Princess Pocahontas, a plan is now underway which it is hoped will preserve for all time this historic shrine.

The ancient church, located at the mouth of the Thames river, is sadly in need of repair. Its congregation has dwindled, due to the fact that the residential section of Gravesend has gradually moved farther and farther from the waterfront, leaving the church stranded in the industrial section of the city.

The past year the order went out from the Rochester diocesan reorganization committee that the church be closed and it was later suggested that the building might be demolished.

This proposal brought a storm of protest from the people here, which reverberated over England and soon reached America.

It was suggested by some Americans that the ashes of the princess be taken to her native land and placed in a shrine at Jamestown Va., near where she had spent most of her life.

THE SUGGESTION was met by several serious obstacles, and the idea was abandoned.

The remains had been placed in the same vault with others who died in that period, and it would be impossible to exhume the dust of Pocahontas without disturbing the resting place of those buried near her. Inasmuch as descendants of those buried there are living here there would be considerable objection on their part. In addition it might be impossible to determine the remains of Pocahontas from others in the crypt.

It was then suggested by Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English-speaking Union and of the Overseas League, that St. George's be constituted a Chapel of Unity for all denominations represented at the World Council of Churches.

He said: "Gravesend has many other historic links with America and with the spread of English civilization across the seas. Surely some steps should be taken to ensure that its part in the founding of English civilization is not forgotten."

"THIS CHAPEL of Unity will be the first of its kind in the world, and it could not be more suitably located," says Dr. Dauntton Fear, rector of Gravesend.

"It was from Gravesend that George Fox sailed for America with a party of Friends (Quakers) in 1671 to establish that faith in the New World. From here also embarked John Wesley in 1733 to carry the Methodist creed to America."

The chapel will be a place where the clergy of the various churches will be free to minister to members of their own communion; where displaced persons may worship according to their own tradition, and for many other religious and humanitarian services.

Pocahontas as a young girl befriend the Jamestown colonists during their first winter when their food ran out and they were faced with starvation. It was she as every American school child knows, who saved the life of Capt. John Smith when her father, Chief Powhatan, decreed that he be killed.

Pocahontas is also believed to have been the first native American to be converted to the Christian religion. At her baptism she was given the name Rebecca. In 1614 she was married to John Rolfe, an Englishman of the Jamestown settlement, and so became the first American to make an international marriage.

The following year Rolfe took his bride to England. She was entertained by royalty because she herself was a princess from the New World.

The Rolfe family, which now included a baby son, Thomas, was preparing to leave for America after more than a year's visit, when Pocahontas became ill and died. She was buried in a crypt under the chancel of St. George's church. In the ancient church register of 1617 one may read the record of her burial there.

The son, Thomas, was reared in England by an uncle, but in early manhood went to America to make his home. Many Americans today trace their ancestry directly back to Pocahontas through her son. Two of our presidents, William Henry Harrison and Benjamin Harrison descended from this famous line.

John Rolfe returned to America soon after the death of Pocahontas, where he died at an early age. Two beautiful memorial windows were given to St. George's by the Colonial Dames of America in 1914.

Jordan Prince Gets Okay To Visit Sick Brother

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 12 — Swiss authorities have issued About 5500 Westinghouse Electric a visa to Prince Naif, of Jordan, to allow him to visit his stricken brother, King Talal, it was learned today.

Talal is reported suffering from a nervous ailment which sometimes makes him violent. Prince Naif has been involved in family and political quarrels with his ailing elder brother, but the king himself was reported to have asked Naif to visit him here for a possible reconciliation.

The Jordan Government has urged Talal to enter a Swiss nerve clinic for treatment and the past week appointed a regency council of three senators to run the desert country during his absence.

Police Probe Stops Pending Court Order

ERIE, June 12 (AP) — Mayor Thomas Flattery declared today he will take no further action in a proposed police department probe until the courts tell him whether he can hold a private hearing.

In a six-page letter, Mayor Flattery invited Erie County District Attorney Damian J. McLaughlin to prosecute if he knows of any crimes committed by police.

McLaughlin did not comment immediately.

The mayor recently announced he would hold a closed hearing on charges by Erie newspapers that the police department had protected gambling, particularly the numbers racket, and that police records had been tampered with.

The private hearing was blocked by the two Erie newspapers, The Times and The Dispatch, and radio station WIKK and television station WICU, both owned by The Dispatch.

These four groups obtained an injunction in Erie county court forbidding the mayor to hold a closed hearing from which newspapermen and radio newsmen were excluded.

Later, Judge Elmer L. Evans continued the injunction indefinitely.

Fuss Over Equal Air Time for Aspirants To Presidency Appears Near Settlement

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—A they failed to get it asked the fuss over equal time on the air for Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to do something about headed toward at least partial settlement today, without the Government edicts that had been asked the broadcasting companies for statements.

Republican Robert A. Taft and Democrat Estes Kefauver, Senators who are seeking the nominations of their parties, said they had been given a portion of the time and facilities which they demanded to match the radio and television coverage provided Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at Abilene, Kans., June 4.

Eisenhower, just back from Europe, opened his bid for the Republican nomination before the microphones and cameras of NBC, CBS, ABC and Mutual. The networks said they covered the occasion as a news event, and the time was free.

Taft and Kefauver promptly bid for approximately the same setup, on the same basis, and when

Man 'Drinks to Limit'; Judge Gives Him Same

PITTSBURGH, June 12 (AP)—When John Turner, 56, appeared before Judge Samuel Weiss today, police testified he had been arrested more than 50 times on charges of drunkenness.

"Well," replied the judge, "I'll give you the limit—one to two years in the county work house."

Scene Stealing

Mrs. Dwight Morrow (left) enlivens the ceremonies attending the visit of a New Jersey delegation at Dwight Eisenhower headquarters in New York. Mrs. Morrow, whose late husband held posts as ambassador to England and Mexico, exclaimed "Oh, I'd love to" when Eisenhower asked if she'd mind shaking hands with him. And a moment later she obliged, standing with the New Jersey visitors, including some of Jack Hamilton's teeth today. No, Hamilton didn't bite the dog. The dog chewed up the teeth while Hamilton slept. The teeth were false, and Hamilton kept them on—Jack Hamilton's dog got a taste of the nightstand beside his bed.

Welcome to Pottstown

TODAY Pottstown welcomes members of the Antique Automobile Club of America to their annual Spring conference and judging. It was nice of the club to come here to make memorable another day of Pottstown's bicentennial celebration.

Pottstown is worthy of this honor because this community pioneered the automobile. Some of the original ideas were worked out and put into production here while the Duryea Brothers, fathers of early automobiles, lived here.

The Chadwick, one of America's first automobiles, was produced here. Happily, one of the few made and which cost the princely sum of $5500 almost a half century ago, still is in Pottstown and will be shown by William Pollock, local industrialist.

Pottstown, too, the antique automobile fanciers will learn, is still a great contributor of the success of the automobile. Many local plants make it possible for the motorists to ride safely and comfortably. Pottstown's universal joints, drive shafts and axles, produced by Spicer's and the US Axle company, its parts turned out by other firms, and its world-famous Firestone tires are known and appreciated the world over.

Pottstown is flattered by being chosen for this fine assemblage. Pottstown likewise is grateful to the many famous men and women who came here today to afford us all an opportunity to brush up on industrial education, to visualize the remarkable progress of the horseless carriage.

Pottstown says "Thanks you" and adds "Have a good time! Look over Pottstown's advantages and tell the world about this progressive community."

When Pottstown looks at the colorful parade tomorrow, it also must say thanks to a man like Ernest Hunter, local industrialist, who worked hard and long to get the antique auto fanciers here.

Nods of appreciation must go to Roger Firestone, of the famous rubber family who heads the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant here, for acting as host at a banquet to the visitors. And to the Doehler-Jarvis, Neapco, and Spicer executives who arranged tours through their fine part-making plants.

Pottstown takes off its hat to all!

School Board Makes Economies

EVERY day, in every way, Pottstown is learning its new school board meant it when it said: "Economy is our watchword." A lot of admiration goes the way of the young, ambitious directors who are looking under the surface of things to see where the taxpayer's money was being drained off.

First they eliminated salaries paid to school board members for a actual or fancied work performed.

Next, they turned thumbs down on junkets by teachers and pupils.

Last night they eliminated a costly Summer adult automobile driving training program.

Further, they may be expected to affect more economies, for their intense interest in the functioning of the schools, their actual on-the-scene observation must lead to more discoveries of profligacy.

He's a Great Guy

HIS gift tie, pipe, and slippers may give Father a great boost Sunday, but he will be even happier when he learns that his suspicions about his important status are confirmed.

The title of Father is defined as "a title of honor given to those who have established anything important in human affairs."

Quite obviously, "Father of the Family" is the most honorable designation of any, but there are some 17 other Father tags. They range from the flattering "Father of his Country" title borne by George Washington, to the scornful "Father of Lies" label given to Satan.

Some of the other famous figures and the things they are said to have "fathered" are: Aeschylus, Greek tragedy; Aristophanes, comedy; Homer, epic poetry; Izaak Walton, angling; William Cavton, English printing; Geoffrey Chaucer, English poetry; Hippocrates, medicine; Alfred the Great, English prose; and Josiah Wedgwood, English pottery.

In no less complimentary vein Father is sometimes applied to anything of great importance. For example, the Mississippi is often called "The Father of Waters."

So, whether you call him "Dad," "Father," or "Papa," treat him right on Fathers' Day—he is a very important fellow.

The name and complete address of the author must accompany every contribution. Names on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 250 words will receive preference.

Kids Deserve Better

To the Editor: It's a shame about the poor bathing facilities for the youngsters at Manatawny park.

When you watch their joyous faces and hear the shouts of glee as the youngsters play in the meager Manatawny creek facilities, you wonder why they can't be treated to something finer in the way of safer diving equipment. They should have at least some supervision there. I observed none.

Of course this all takes money. But how about diverting some money from some of these nonsensical commercial enterprises now going on in the borough into something more productive for the younger generation?

Repairs Worth Cost

To the Editor: When are these borough streets going to be repaired?

I'd gladly pay a little more in taxes to fix up the roads, because I know I'd save them in repair bills in the long run.

Pottstown
CAR OWNER

Has Plan for Police

To the Editor: I read in The Mercury that the police in town might not be eligible to be covered by social security, as the street workers and all are being, because police already have a retirement program of their own.

I think that if they find their pension fund does make them ineligible. Pottstown police would do very well to disband the program and go along with social security.

In the long run, social security probably will pay more money eventually than the pension fund.

In the second place, I think the pension fund is a cause of a lot of trouble in a small town.

Police often are understandably reluctant to get tough about parking, etc., with big contributors.

And many of the big contributors seem to think the money they give entitles them to break the law.

I think if the money in the pension fund was divided fairly among police members of the fund, and then the department went under social security, everybody would be better off.

Theme Song Proposed

To the Editor: As a contribution to the Bobby Shantz night that they are going to have in Shibe park, I think some poet or musician in town ought to write lyrics for a theme song.

Since it is obvious that if the Athletics had another pitcher on the team who could win like Bobby does, they'd be in the thick of the pennant fight, I would like to suggest a title for the theme song: "Just One More Shantz."

To the Editor: As a newcomer to this town, I have been greatly impressed by the rapid strides being made in the way of new dwelling construction.

I was looking over the Penn Village project after reading of the progress being made on it in The Mercury, and felt I had to express my feeling about how wonderful it is that this town is growing so fast.

WASHINGTON

Ike Backers Denounced Platform He Supports

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 12—The Republicans' official, 1950 declaration of party principles and objectives, which General Eisenhower has recommended as the basis for a 1952 platform, was regarded as such a "back to Methuselah" document by his campaign managers and leading supporters for the presidential nomination that they denounced it and refused to sign it.

The principal framers of this off-year statement were Senator Taft, Ike's main rival to head the ticket this year, former House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. and national Chairman Guy Gabrielson.

Martin favors General MacArthur in the current contest, and MacArthur openly backs Taft. Although supposedly neutral, Chairman Gabrielson reflects the national committee's preference for the Ohio Senator.

The Eisenhower critics of the "liberty against socialism" credo, which was the headlinish title of the opus, included such promoters as Senators Lodge, Duff, Smith of Maine, Aiken of Vermont, Ives of New York, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Ike's two House supporters—Representatives Javits of New York and Fulton of Pennsylvania.

They objected on two counts—namely, the wishy-washy, pussy-footing declaration on civil rights legislation, and the general denunciation of Roosevelt-Truman reforms as "socialistic."

DILEMMA: Since his return from Europe, Eisenhower has discussed this dilemma with these 1950 dissenters. They have told him that, although they differed on phraseology and the specific handling of certain issues, they really believed in the broad principles enunciated in the party pronouncement.

But that is not the way they talked in February of 1950, when the Taft-Martin-Gabrielson faction charted the GOP course.

The circumstances behind the issuance of this off-year statement give it unusual importance in Republican annals. It was meant to be a mandate for the Congressional elections of that year, when it was feared that the combined Truman-labor forces might deal the party a blow by defeating Taft in Ohio. He won by 431,000 on this platform and his own record.

It was also designed to allay rumors of serious differences between Taft and the late Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the GOP's champion of a bipartisan foreign policy.

"Van" approved the statement's reference to foreign matters. Oddly, or perhaps naturally, Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr. is one of General Eisenhower's political aides. Just before the statement was issued, when the writer questioned Taft about reports of his feud with the since deceased Michigan statesman, the Ohioan retorted:

"What do I have to do—kiss Arthur at high noon every day before the Senate convenes to prove that there are no hard feelings between us?"

PLATFORM: In an effort to ascertain party sentiment, Gabrielson sent letters to 50,000 field workers, and more than 10,000 responded. Representatives from the House, Senate and national committee spent most of December and January in boiling down the answers into a succinct statement. The three groups argued angrily over the finished document at closed sessions on February 6, 1950—a date that may become politically famous.

The platform as issued advocated continuance of a bipartisan foreign program, but assailed the Yalta-Potsdam "secret" agreements and White House neglect of the Senate's treaty-making authority.

It demanded a balanced budget, tax reductions, farm price supports, improvement of the Taft-Hartley Act along the line of pending Taft amendments, extension of social security coverage and an increase in payments, elimination of Communists and fellow-travelers from the government.

MIXED EMOTIONS department: The news release announcing the Joe Louis Distilling company, whose chief product will be Joe Louis Bourbon, contained this statement from the former champ: "Let me re-state what I have said many times. Alcoholic beverages, regardless of the name or quality of the product, are not for children. Also, I feel that athletes in training should avoid my product and any other alcoholic beverages. Liquor and sports don't mix."

WHEN DAVID, our youngest child, was almost six, he had a loose tooth in front.

"Daddy, don't you think he ought to have that tooth out before he goes to sleep?" 13-year-old Philip inquired.

"He might get it down his wind pipe if it came out during the night."

All five of our children may have regarded this tooth pulling episode as a means of stalling, for they were all in bed and should have been asleep.

But I agreed that it would be a good idea to remove the tooth. I got a piece of coarse thread and slipped a noose around it.

David sat up in bed while the others gathered around him. Unfortunately, my thread slipped off the tooth.

By the time I had it replaced, David was getting jittery. He said he wanted to look at himself in the mirror first, so I agreed.

THEN HE decided that he would rather do the pulling. I consented. But he couldn't get up courage to jerk the thread.

Judy and George and Philip and Danny alternately encouraged him and then urged him not to be a baby.

As a further means of stalling, David decided he'd rather have me get a pair of forceps to pull it.

I think he was surprised to find I located the forceps so readily. We had called his last bluff, so he finally opened his mouth, albeit very apprehensively.

Then he pressed his hands against his cheeks and complained of great pain. He said his head hurt him. Pain enlarges as we pay attention to it.

In fact, he decided it would be better to postpone the operation until next morning.

It is good psychology to let your patient assist as much as possible in any minor operation, for it diverts a person's attention to be doing something.

Following this rule, I asked David to pull downward on the thread, for this drew the loose tooth out of line so I could easily seize it with the forceps.

Then I lifted it out before he fully realized the fact. But he was on the verge of crying, so I told him to look in the mirror and see if he wasn't an old toothless grandpa!

Philip also diverted his attention by asking him if he could now whistle. David tried and found that he still could do so.

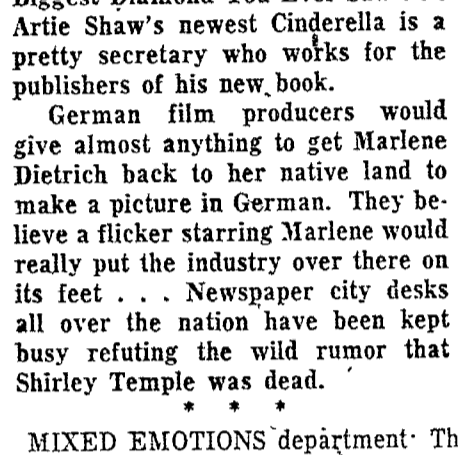

Then I urged him to take his tooth, still dangling on the thread, and show it to his mother in the kitchen, which he did, amid an excessive amount of hilarity.

Note that his nearness to tears had now been diverted into undue laughter.

I have described David's case today because adults react in almost an identical pattern when they contemplate a tonsillectomy or any other surgical operation.

First they stall around. They conjure up many apparently logical arguments for postponement. Then they grow panicky and require much reassurance. Some go into a nervous collapse by their prolonged fear and indecision.

But when the operation is over, they boast about it and want to do a little social grandstanding as a consequence, just as David pranced around in the kitchen trying to be cute and funny.

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 — Ethel Merman left N.Y. saying "No romance in my life, etc." But air-ines and oil exec., Bob Six flew to Mexico City over the weekend to be with The Merm while she's getting her divorce. Six is also the gent who threw that huge party for her in Washington recently. . . . Steve Cochran has been unhappily beeping about his current role in "The Desert Song." So Warners today promised him the lead with Jane Wyman in "Back to Broadway," her next at that studio. She'll do this before whatever she does on loanout to Columbia in the Fall. . . . Mary Pickford is dickering with Harry Brand and director Ned Marin for some of the story properties will these two by the late producer-director, Roland West. Mary wants to produce them as Tele-visions. Included are such famous old-time hit plays as "Unknown Purple" and "Alibi" by Lola Lane, widow of West, doesn't "need the money," because Roland left her a huge fortune, but she's getting ready for a movie comeback by dropping mucho poundage.

Platter-spinner George Sanders says the "handwriting on the wall" only means there's a kid in the family! . . . With or without Greg Bautzer, Ginger Rogers is heading north for a rest at her vast Oregon ranch. . . . If the papers printed it, we missed it, but during the Ingrid Bergman-Peter Lindstrom court hassle 't'other day, Evie Johnson broke up spectators, reporters et al when she was testifying as a character-witness for Ingrid. I. Pachet, counsel for Lindstrom, who seemed to be trying to tear down Evie's character, baited her with the question, "Isn't it true you divorced Keenan Wynn before you married Van Johnson?" Evie flipped, "Of course! After all, I'm not a bigamist!"

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Long Distance Fun...

Sells Roof Over Head...

PASTIME—Neighbors of Richard W. Hughes, 950 Warren street, may be excused for questioning the young man's sanity when he announces proudly, "There's a guy out in Bucyrus, Ohio, who has two of my pawns, but I've taken his king." The truth is, Hughes is as sane as the next fellow except that he has become involved in the unusual hobby of playing chess by mail. It all began when Hughes moved to Pottstown two years ago and was unable to find chess players in the borough. In desperation he turned to chess by mail and now competes with other enthusiasts all over the country. Only Hughes' endurance and postcard supply limit his participation. All moves are made by mail and he can play as many games simultaneously as he desires. Still, chess by mail is not entirely satisfying and the young pharmacist is anxious to find "live" competition in Pottstown. He urges any chess fan within range to contact him.

OWN DEAL — Joe L. Bowen, Pottstown real estate broker, has sold the home of Joe L. Bowen, 247 Maplewood drive, to Dr. Ellis R. Kohn, high street chiroprapist who has been living in Phoenixville. Bowen is building a new ranch-type house on Elmwood drive in the North End. Until it's finished in the Fall, he'll live at 1222 Queen street. John Yanusko, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yanusko Sr., 406 Beech street is spending a 10 day furlough here after completing his Marine basic training at San Diego, Calif. Yanusko, a March draftee, will report to Camp Lejeune, N. C. after his leave at his parents' home.

HONOR—Miss Miriam N. Mogavero, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Mogavero, Wynnewood, won an award for excellence in the interior design course at the Philadelphia Museum school of art. She also has been accepted at the Fontainebleau school of art in France and is leaving next week by airplane to take a Summer course. Her mother is the former Miriam R. Bechtel, of Pottstown. . . . Ray E. Prizer, Pughtown antique auto enthusiast, won an honorable mention the past weekend at the 250th birthday celebration of Springfield, Mass. His 1923 Silver Ghost Rolls Royce sedan competed on a national scale and was one of 35 of the British cars entered. There were 75 other antique and classical cars in the parade, including an entry of Tenor James Melton. Prizer was accompanied by Mrs. Prizer and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, Ridge road, near Spring City.

VISITOR—Gordon Skean Jr., former Pottstown newspaperman, was back in town yesterday on a look-see jaunt from his newspapering duties in Moorehead, N. C. . . . TODAY'S ORCHID — To Clarence E. Bechtel, the maintenance man at Security Trust company. Many Pottstonians will remember that southwest corner of High and Hanover streets being one of the filthiest in town. All the debris along the street seemed to become a deposit there. But not since Bechtel has been the maintenance man. He has that corner looking like the cleanest sidewalk in town! . . . That Pottstown On Parade pictorial will come out closer to July 4 than June 14. Wrong date was announced here.

SWING SHIFT—What do those Pottstown second shift workers do for recreation? They get out of the shops at 11 or 11:30 or 12 midnight, and find the nightspots just about closing up, the bowling alleys getting out the tarpaulins, and the soda fountains long since shuttered. What to do for fun? Doehler management and union, represented by Howard Bartholomew, Dr. Gustave W. Weber and Unionists Augie Krause and Leonard Keffer hit on an idea. They arranged with the management of the Hippodrome theatre to have a special late show one night a week, on Thursday night. The show will start at 11:45 p. m., and the workers were told to "come as you are!" The innovation will be on the boards next week, according to Ray Meyer, the up-and-coming manager who put over the deal.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

MOST SKIN disorders product itching, which is known medically as pruritus. Anyone can tolerate a slight itch, but when itching is severe there is nothing that can be more disturbing.

An itch may be painful, but it is medically somewhat different from a pain and may require a different type of treatment. It is of interest that the drugs known as antihistamines have proved useful in relieving itch.

Some doctors have thought that the severe itching of skin diseases occurs in some cases when the cells of the skin produce a substance called histamine. The antihistamines oppose this action, so it was assumed that these drugs might help relieve much of the itching.

An ointment containing antihistamines, together with itch-relieving medicines, has had some very good results with a number of conditions that produce severe itching.

In cases of urticaria, commonly known as hives, it has given excellent relief. Many people who have an allergy to penicillin and other drugs break out with an itching rash when they take these drugs. Allergic rashes of this kind are also helped by applications of ant

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A DRUGGIST had to fire his chief assistant recently. "I never knew a man who could fill a doctor's prescription more quickly," he admitted, "and you certainly have kept the stock in apple-pie order. But we've got to face it, Doc: you make your chicken salad too darn salty."

They tell of a young nurse named Gray who nibbled at fruit all the day. She was hospitalized, sad to say, and a doctor a day keeps the apple away.

Fred Allen, fond of pointing out the absurdity of most movies shown on TV, swears he caught one Western so old that the cowboy was riding a dinosaur.

An interior decorator sent Mrs. Neveaux a Louis the Fifth chair on approval. Mrs. N. returned it with a note that read: "This chair isn't quite big enough. Have you a Louis the Fifteenth one in stock?"

An ice truck-car collision at Seventh avenue and Main street, Trappe, yesterday morning resulted in $200 damage to the two vehicles.

Trappe Police Chief William B. Sprouse reported the truck driver, Ernest McDonald, Collegeville RD 1, was traveling east on Main street and preparing to make a "U" turn onto Seventh avenue when an auto driven by E. Barton Gumpert, West Lawn, attempted to pass him on the right.

Speed-Up Tax Plan OK'd for Stowe Plant

Columbia Boiler company, Stowe, was made law in 1950.

has been awarded a "certificate of necessity" for accelerated tax write-off on $70,229 being spent to expand its facilities for straightening armor plate.

This was announced yesterday by the U. S. Department of Commerce for the Defense Production administration, which grants the certification.

The $70,229 represented 50 percent of the amount spent by the Stowe firm in its expansion program, the department reported.

Under the tax write-off program, the depreciation of new facilities can be written off in 5 years, instead of the normal life usefulness of the facility, as was the case before the accelerated program.

Lynn Bari Begins Action Against Former Husband

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP)—Sid Luft's marriage to singer Judy Garland may boomerang him into new court difficulties with his ex-wife actress Lynn Bari.

Just yesterday Luft was ordered to increase support for his three-year-old son, John Michael Luft, to $400 monthly in an action brought by Miss Bari. Hours later his marriage Sunday to Miss Garland was reported at Hollister, Calif.

So S. S. Hahn, attorney for Miss Bari, says Luft was off tune in telling about his financial condition during yesterday's hearing and another suit will be filed asking more money.
